STUBBORN FACTS.

If any Republican hears a Democratic neighbor boasting of the bright prospects of the Democratic party let him call his attention to these results of this year's elections:

In Oregon the Republicans cast the largest vote they ever polled, gained the largest plurality they ever had and greatly increased their representation in both branches of the Legislature, making it from two-thirds to three-fourths Republican.

In Vermont the Republicans cast the largest vote they ever polled at a gubernatorial election, gained the largest plurality they ever gave a candidate for governor, chose every member of the State Senate and made large gains in the lower branch of the Legislature.

In Maine the Republicans cast the largest vote they ever polled, gained one of the largest pluralities they have had in twenty years, elected a solid

An Appeal to America.

Has it ever occured to you that England is seeking, through the aid of the Democratic party, to make the United States her dependency. England's labor, to-day, is pauperized. There is no work for her starving artisans—she seeks Free Trade in the United States that her idle mills and work shops may be opened. Once Free Trade is adopted here, England's unemployed labor will be put to to work at English low-wages, against which the American manufacturer cannot compete, or all our works here will be closed and the starving artisans will be Americans. Cannot all understand how completely we would be in the power of England?

Would the United States not be a dependency then, of England?

Let it not be put on record that England with the assistance of the Democratic party of to-day has succeeded in doing what had been attempted before, but failed.

"The Tariff fight is to the Death" indeed. The issue is a personal one to each American citizen, and it will be seen to November 6th.

THE poor Democrats are struggling against approaching fate by trying to originate new issues, but they don't originate worth a cent. For instance, they say that Simon or Don Cameron made slighting remarks of Gen. Harrison. We don't believe the charge; and cannot understand how that has anything to do with the fact that the Democrats are forced to obey the commands of Watterson, Carlisle, Mills and other southern Democrats, whose object is to break down the great industries of the North and make amends to England for having disappointed her in being defeated during the Rebellion, though aided by English arms and sympathy.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF A FEW READERS.

This paper has all sorts of readers, and among them persons who used to be Republicans, but now consider it their duty to belong to the third party prohibitionists and to support that party and Gen. Fiske, its candidate. We shall not pass them off with a sneer as is so common, but shall address ourselves to them seriously, because we know they are gentlemen who, although very determined in their convictions, will listen to reason. Let us first say that we respect them for their boldness of conviction, but believe it is mistaken zeal.

Why are they third party prohibitionists? We thus distinguish them from Republicans, who are nearly all prohibitionists, but do not think they can attain their end by leaving their party. We answer that they belong to this new party because they believe it has a special mission and one which is good. They reason that $900,000,000 is they will vote for General Fiske, who represents these principles to the exclusion of other good principles. All honor to these faithful few. We point this year. What did they ask the Republican party to do? To give them the privilege to vote on the subject of prohibition. This the Republican party did. The first step was taken and just as much was done as was possible. We heard some prohibitionists sneer and say the submission resolution would not pass. But it did. They said that such a measure would satisfy them. But they are now acting deceptively. The Republican party kept its faith, but these people are not doing so. They are men who profess to have noble motives. Let them prove this year that they are noble men, by voting for Harrison. If the Republican party of the State fails to carry out its promise by again passing the resolution and getting the Governor's signature then will be the time to say it is not worthy your support. An agreement is binding so long as both parties adhere to it. Such a covenant has been entered into. Let not the Prohibitionists be the first to break the covenant. Be manly; be honest.

[redacted]

[redacted]

We earnestly believe that prohibition tide more difficult to stem. Realize the disastrous consequences that will follow if the Democratic party be entrenched in power.

[redacted]

Even if Prohibition be secured through a Prohibition party it can only be when public sentiment is sufficiently educated. That is all the Republican party asks the say it is certain of attainment this year, while that of Prohibition is not considered possible before 1892, even by its most enthusiastic supporters. We believe that the adoption of a high, properly classified traiff will prove helpful to Prohibition, while partial or entire free-trade would intensify the liquor traffic. Protection will give abundant work at high wages. When a man is industrious and prosperous he will not spend his time in the drinking places; when want and idleness come he will drown his grief in drink.

[redacted]

These are strong arguments. Let us conclude by pointing to two men. Gen Fiske is gallant and good. Harrison is equally gallant, equally good, and more able intellectually. Fiske's addresses and Fiske's letter are not equal to Harrison's.

Thus every reason of sentiment and logic urges these former Republicans to remain true to their party this year.

FOUR QUESTIONS.

Thomas Stevenson, an intelligent workingman at New Haven, Conn., asks of free traders, or tariff reducers, four questions, which he desires to have answered. We commend them to our friends of Mr. Cleveland's party:

1. Inasmuch as it is a cardinal doctrine of free trade that demand and supply regulate wages, how would cheapened wool increase the wages of the woolen operatives, when cheap wool would be common to all countries alike?

2. The camel's hair shirt which I now wear cost me $1.50. It would cost me $1 in England. In the textile district of Lancashire I should command $6.78 a week; I now command $15.04 a week. How was I cheated in my camel's hair undershirt? I want to know, as I have a ballot to cast this fall.

3. When free trade had been in vogue twenty years in England I heard John Bright say that England and Wales alone had a million paupers and another million on the ragged edge of pauperism. I

It is an actual fact, which can be proven by any one who cares to examine the books or other property of the firm, that a larger proportionate number of the employes of this firm own their own homes, in many instances farms, than of any other manufacturing establishment in the State. It is an old firm dating back through nearly a century, but not an instance can be found where the firm or any member of it has pushed a judgment or foreclosed a mortgage against any of their employes. They now have in their employ many men who have worked for them continuously for more than forty years. Among them are John Delaney, Jacob Shultz, John Shultz, George Funk, William White, Wm. F. Bathurst, R. D. Evans, Samuel Wheeler, Thos. Bathurst, John Brian, Samuel Lyons, Samuel Barges, John Berger and others whose names we do

If you want to continue to go with your head bowed down, mourning like a sick king fisher, and chattering like a one eyed toad in a mud puddle, vote for Cleveland and free trade. But if you prefer a fresh cow at your door, two fat hogs in the pen, your wife and children singing and happy, with your store bills and rent all paid, then by all means vote for Harrison and protection. Then will joy come to your household, the house cat purr, and the dog wag his tail as the master returns from his work with a smile on his face. Und dond you forgot him.

A SAINT'S VISION.

When St. John was on the island of Patmos he saw a vision which he thus records:

"And I saw an angel come down from Heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand.

"And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, * * * * * and buried him a thousand years.

"And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more."

That Angel must be the Republican party and of course the dragon is Mr. Cleveland's free trade party. Considering the way this party is acting now, it well deserves this fate.

THE tariff bill in the United States has passed the House of Representatives by 164 to 149 votes. The bulk of the people are beginning to set their backs up at paying through the nose for their iron and steel and other commodities. As it now stands the States are decidedly going for free trade and this is the Democratic cry at the election.—London Trade Circular.

THEIR own tariff bill has proven such a disastrous thing to the Democrats that they are exceedingly anxious for the Republicans to hasten the completion of one. The Republican bill will be one which will insure prosperity for all time to come.

THE SUMMER AFTER.

I stood once more on the dear old beach
Where we'd parted the year before,
And sitting there in the self-same spot
I saw my love once more.

The dress she wore was the one I loved,
A simple gown of white,
And I asked myself, "When she put it on,
Did she know I would come to-night?"

The moon shone bright as I closer drew,
And knelt at her feet on the sand,
Where I told her how I had loved her long,
And I ventured to take her hand.

With a silvery laugh she raised her head,
And then, oh, horrible shock!
I saw that 'twas only Rosalie's maid
In Rosalie's last year's frock!

THE OLD STORY.

From Harper's Magazine for August.

You may call it flirting, or what not,
But I don't see that I was much to blame
How could I know that you loved me,
When you never once mentioned the same?
I've walked in the starlight with many,
And have risked my life on the bay,
Yet among them I've never found any
But had something decided to say.

You thought that your silence had told me?
The silence that's golden we've heard;
But the girl of to-day prefers silver,
Coined into words sweet and absurd;
There are lovers whom there's no mistaking,
Whose language leaves no one in doubt;
There are others who leave one's heart aching
For a word there's no living without.

But since the sweet year has grown older,
And you've failed as a special pleader,
Shall I be left out in the cold, sir,
Because I was not a mind-reader?
You blame me, I think, without reason:
If you really had something to say,
What matters the time or the season?
Why can't we be happy—to-day?

VOICES OF THE NIGHT.

When after weary toils of day
And round I go the doors to lock,
I hear wife's voice from dreamland say,
"Remember, dear, to wind the clock."

When stetched beneath the sheets I lie,
And of all cares have ceased to think,
From the trundle bed I hear the cry:
"I want a dwink! I want a dwink!"

THE SKELETON IN THE CLOSET.

From the Mail and Express.

The shades of night were falling fast
As through a bankrupt village passed
A man who bore, mid silence dead,
A flag on which there could be read:
Free Trade!

The grass is growing in the streets,
The clothes are old on all he meets;
The factory fires are dead and cold,
The kids are weazened, starved and old—
Free Trade,

"Try not to work," the old man said,
"The wages will not pay for bread."
The flagman did not make reply,
He merely let his banner fly—
Free Trade!

"Stay! stay! the wretched cried, "and rest
Among us whom Free Trade has blest."
Far off the words came on the wind,
As of a spirit sick in mind:
Free Trade.

Next morn they found beneath the flag
A faded, old and useless rag.
A skeleton stretched on the stones
With these strange words wrought of bones:
Free Trade.

Our Story Teller'

ROSS CASTLE.

Ross castle stood somewhat out of the village. It had been decaying for centuries and the gloom of its shadow was always avoided by the immediate inhabitants. An old priory stood about half a mile from the castle. It was an object of much curiosity, its old tower being completely overrun with ivy so that only here and there a jutting buttress, an angle of gray wall or the carved figure of a saint peered through its evergreen mantle.

Sir Phelim, the owner of Ross Castle, had been a widower for more than fifteen years; he was rich, arrogant and uncharitable. His only child, Lady Eveleen, a lovely girl of 17, was soon to approach the nuptial altar as the bride of Sir Stanley Gore, although it was pretty generally known that the idol of her heart was a young and ardent patriot by the name of Dermot O'Farrel, to whom, in a happier hour, full of youthful fervor, she had plighted her troth.

The bridegroom of Sir Phelim's choice was, after a considerable period, reluctantly accepted by Eveleen, merely that she might avoid incurring her father's displeasure; although she gave him the solemn assurance that she was about to bestow her hand on one, while her heart was unalterably another's.

For more than a year Eveleen had avoided society, and would often wander out alone in the hawthorn walk, where she would weep in silence and loneliness over the barbed sorrow that rankled in her soul. Sometimes she would be seen late of an evening beside the porch of the old priory. She became fervent in her devotions at church, but by degrees she slowly, but none the less surely, began to waste away; the heretic bloom appeared, the eye became unnaturally bright—indeed the girl herself felt a conviction that she was hastening to the tomb.

One afternoon an old woman, habited in a patched and much-faded hooded cloak, wended her way up the shady avenue toward the castle; a boy and girl walked beside her, the wan and pinched features of the little group bore unmistakable signs of starvation and fatigue.

After reaching the neglected and moss-covered steps leading to the hall door she hesitated for a moment when Sir Phelim issued from an adjoining stable on horseback.

"Now, then, you miserable old hag, what do you want here?" he roared.

"The blessin's o' the hungry and the fatherless light on ye, Sir Phelim," cried the medicant.

"When I ask your blessing it will be timeenough to grant it," said his lordship.

"This is the weddin' eve o' your angel-faced daughter; may the match be a happy wan, your lordship."

"Your good or bad wishes, old dame, don't amount to a pinch of snuff one way or the other," said Sir Phelim.

"Lord Stanly Gore has riches, your lordship, so that your daughter is never to feel the pinch o' hunger like these little wans beside me; may be, sir, you'd order the sarvant to hunt me up a mor' sel in the kitchen for the poor children?"

"My castle," cried Sir Phelim, "is not an asylum for beggars."

"Oh, sir, find a soft corner in your heart for the helpless."

"Begone, old beldame."

"Give us a crust and' we'll pray that luck an' grace may attend fair Eveleen's wedding. "Once for all, you old pauper, I command you to quit my ground and take your beggarly offspring with you."

"Heaven will reward ye, as you desarve, my proud lord—beggarly offsprings? Oh, my childher has it come to this? look to your own child," she shrieked. "Ha, ha, did that nettle ye? I see your wine-flushed face is growin' pale—never mind my creatures—watch your own child—desolation, has overtook the Ross family many an' many a time before now—and I am no true prophet if it doesn't fall on you soon an' sudden for the words ye've used to me—beggarly offsprings, indeed! Look to your own! Lord Gore's wealth can't cure the canker that is aitin its way into her young heart." There was a fearful force of anguish visible in what she felt, her brows were wildly depressed from their natural position her face became pale, her eyes glared upon Sir Phelim, and in a hissing whisper she continued: "Yes look to your own, the bright young Eveleen, the light o' your eyes, and when ye hear the branchee's wail, recollect, sir, it follows the family. When you see the fetch o' your child in the night an' hear the low, croon-like funeral music, when the lily cheek is cold an' the light o' the blue eyes gone out, then maybe you'll be sorry for the words ye used against the poor womon an' her beggarly offsprings."

She then retraced her steps, muttering threats and imprecations as she left the castle grounds.

"What did she mean by my daughter's fetch and the croon of the banshee?" mused Sir Phelim. "Was it a prediction? No, no; merely a gypsy-like device to to extort alms?"

At length the eventful night had arrived. Joy and splendor seemed to reign supreme once more within the time-honored walls of Ross Castle, the noblest families of Ireland being represented at the nuptial banquet. The feast went on merrily; Lord Stanley Gore, the illustrious bridegroom, however, took but little notice of the company or entertainment· he scarcely tasted the banquet, but seemed absorbed in the admiration of his bride.

Sir Phelim Ross told his best and longest anecdotes—and never had he told them so well or with such great effect.

Amid all this revelry Lady Eveleen maintained a most singular gravity; her countenance assumed a deeper cast of dejection as the evening advanced. Her father's humorous stories seemed only to render her the more melancholy.

After the banquet the ball-room was thrown open. Eveleen, however, continued to keep aloof from the brilliant throng. The principal object of her attention was her aged confessor. At length, in order to escape the feverish heat of the chamber, she withdrew to the balcony overlooking the garden.

The jest and laugh grew less and less frequent as the night advanced. Eveleen having returned, threw herself wearily into a couch, and at once engaged the attention of the old priest. Lowering clouds began to steal over the fair serenity of her brow. All this did not escape the notice of the company. Whispers and glances were accompanied by shrugs and dubious shakes of the head; their gayety was chilled by the unaccountable gloom of the bride.

The hour of midnight was pealing solemnly from the steeple of the old priory—followed a burst of heart-chilling and wierd music, like the wild peal of the Ulican—which, while it lasted, appeared to fill the auditors with bewilderment. The next minute a figure resembling the bride glided from the balcony into the chamber.

"Eveleen!" cried Sir Phelim, advancing as if to embrace his child, but the figure stood no longer there—the apparition had vanished.

"What unearthly mumery is this?" he continued, turning to his astonished guests.

"Where is my daughter?"

"Behold her there!" said the venerable priest, indicating the couch, on which the wretched father saw but the rigid form of the youthful bride, pale, cold and motionless as marble.

"She is dead!" said the priest. "Her saintly soul is now beyond the unhallowed reach of earthly creatures. You besought me, against Heaven's will, to pronounce her nupital benediction, but a higher power than yours has ordained that I should read her burial prayer."

THE TARIFF AND THE SHOEMAKERS.

A Sample Case Showing How the Shoemakers Would Suffer from the Mills Bill.

We cannot do better in to-day's article on the tariff than to publish some facts which appeared in last Saturday's issue of the Rockland County Journal. They are not only important to the shoemaker of Nyack, but to all the shoemakers of the country, whose wages are more than 100 per cent. higher than the wages paid in England. The Journal published a fac-simile of a letter from an English shoe manufacturer to an American dealer. The manufacturer's name is John Hess, and he offered to sell to the American a children's shoe for 27 shillings per dozen. This, as the Journal explains makes the London shoe worth 56 cents a pair. Add 30 per cent. duty to this, and it will be worth in this country about 73 cents. The question is wether the American shoemaker will continue to compete with the English shoe at 73 cents, or if he will vote to put down the price of competition to 56 cents. If he does he will lose his advantage in wages. The American shoe, as the Journal learns, doubtless from inquiry among the shoe manufacturers of Nyack, which is nearest like the sample of the 27-shilling English shoe, costs the producer 65 cents, and the expense is divided as follows: Goat kid in the upper, 16 cents; sole leather, etc., 15 cents; trimming, 4 cents, findings, nails, thread, boxes, 3 cents; fitting, 8 cents, shoemaking, cutting, etc., 14 cents; manufacturing, 5 cents; total, 65 cents. Of this sum 22 cents is the amount paid for labor, so the American shoe costs to produce 9 cents more than the selling price of the English shoe, and that 9 cents must be made up in some way if the American shoe is to be compelled to compete on even terms with the British shoe. The Journal asks where shall the reduction be made? and gives this answer:

Not on the raw goatskin, for that is now free of duty, coming in from all parts of the world, and can be bought for no less a figure. Not on the sole leather, for we are exporting sole leather and America supplies the American market at bottom price. Not on the other small items, for shoemakers know that the figures cannot be shaved. Not on the manufacturer's five cents, for that must must cover the rents, clerk, risks, salesmen and a dozen incidentals. Only one item remains—the reduction must fall on the wage earner. The 22 cents be cut down to 13 cents—the nine cents difference between 56 without a tariff and 65 under the protective policy of the Republican party. Keep on your figuring, friends, and you will find that is a reduction of over 40 per cent. of your wages. A man now earning $2·50 per day must then expect but $1.45, and other wage earners will suffer in precisely the same proportion.

We have nothing to add to this startling showing. It is one of the most interesting and important illustrations of the tariff question that we have seen.

A Peculiar Man and his Methods.

Braddock Daily News.

Prof. Louis de Lariviere is the name of a magnetic healer who says he has just arrived in this country from Brussels. He speaks with a German accent, and dresses like the average slight-of-hand performer. Saturday evening he gave a free exhibition at Lafayette Hall, Pittsburg. His advertisements announced that he would, on the stage, cure all chronic diseases without the use of medicines, incantations or trances. Consequently there was a large crowd of curious people present.

It is said that a Braddock Ironworker, blind for six years from an accident, after being rubbed about the eyes for ten minutes by the Prof. pointed out the location of the gas jets in the house, but the light was all he could see. Thirteen days were set as the time for his cure.

Several old people suffering with paralysis were made to jump and dance about in a very short time by being rubbed by a preparation in the hands of this wonderful man.

Conductor Smith, who runs a swell passenger train on the Kansas Pacific road, had an experience yesterday that will probably make him baldheaded before he becomes half old enough. While going through the cars taking tickets, just after leaving Ellsworth, he shook up one passenger who was found to be stone dead, stiff and cold, sitting upright in his seat. The lifeless man's wife sat beside him, but did not know he was dead until the conductor apprised her of the fact. Inquiry developed the information that Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wyncht, en route to Carneiro, Kan., had boarded the train night before last at Kansas City, and occupied one seat. The man had, when his condition was discovered, been dead several hours.

It is said that the oldest man living anywhere is James James, a negro of Santa Rosa, Mexico, who was born near Dorchester, S. C., in 1752, He was with his master in the Revolutionary war, was 40 years old, when Washington was elected President, went to Texas when 101 years old, moved into Mexico five years later, and now, at the age of 136, lives in a little hut, to which he is confined by rheumatism, and is supported by contributions from the citizens of Santa Rosa.

Don't You See?

One day this week a free trade mathematician dropped into one of the principal buisness houses in Exchange Place, and accidentally encountered a laborer in the employ of Taft, Weeden & Co., the well-known woolen manufacturers. Producing his note book and requesting an interview, the amateur professor of free trade worked out the following indialogue with the poor workingman:

Professor—What wages do you get?

Workingman—Forty-two dollars a month, sir.

P.—Then you must get more than most of the men employed in the mill, eh?

W.—No, sir; many of them get more than I do.

P.—Are there any girls in the mill?

W.—Yes, sir; and they get about as much as the men.

P.—Well, then, you get $42 a month. Now, then, my good man, how much do you spend?

W.—Fifty dollars a month, sir.

P.—Oh, aha! This is the worst yet. Let me get that down correctly. How much did you say your wages were per month?

W.—Forty-two dollars a month, if you please, sir.

P.—And you spend how much?

W.—Fifty dollars a month, sir.

P.—Well, well, this is pitiful. Why, I pay my servant girl only $16 a month, but she saves something out of that. You are worse of than she is.

W.—Not a bit worse off, am I, sir.

P.—Why, how do you make that out?

W.—Well, sir, I'll tell you how it is. I've been saving up my money all these years, until I have been able to buy some houses. I get fifty dollars a month rent from my houses, and I spend that My wages I put by every month against a rainy day, don't you see?—Providence (R. I.) Dispatch.

English Knowledge of America.

From the New York World.

"It rather takes an American down," said Senator Windom, "to go abroad and encounter the prevailing ignorance about our affairs and institutions. When I left the Republican Convention at Chicago was just getting down to work and everybody about the ship was looking eagerly for news when we should get to the other side. When the pilot came aboard a lot of us went at him to learn who was the candidate. He had never heard of Chicago or the convention and didn't know what we were talking about, but said he thought the Channel pilot, to come aboard off Southampton, would know all about it. When the Channel pilot arrived he was even more ignorant about Chicago and the convention than the other one, if that were possible and we deputized Archibald Forbes, as an experienced newspaper man to pump him. Forbes took him in hand without getting any news, and at last, in despair, asked him if he had ever heard of America. The pilot answered and said he thought it was in Canada."

Evils of Chewing Gum.

Chicago Tribune.

A physician tells me that chewing gum is a practice in which grown people should not indulge and which parents should not tolerate in children. "Is it worse than chewing tobacco?" I asked. "A thousand times" was the reply. "A girl will do enough chewing on a cents worth of gum to masticate her food for a whole week. The hinges of the jaw are made for the ordinary work of an ordinary life, and they won't stand any more. Chewing gum is something like drinking whiskey—one nip calls for another, and one craunch begets another It excites the nerves which lie about the jaws to a kind of perpetual motion, which dosen't cease until their strength is exhausted. We haven't been chewing quite long enough to see its ill effect, but our jaws are made like the jaws of other people and we might learn a true and useful lesson from history.

FREE TRADE.

A Few Industries the Democrats Propose to Kill.

The Mills bill declares for—

Free trade in lumber, which we produce to the value of $300,000,000 annually.

Free trade in wool, of which we produce nearly 300,000,000 pounds annually.

Free trade in salt, of which we produce nearly 400,000,000 bushels annually.

Free trade in flax, hemp, jute and other fibers.

Free trade in cement, potash, lime and brick.

Free trade in meats, game, and poultry.

Free trade in vegetables, peas and beans.

Free trade in marble and stone.

Free trade in tin plates, which would destroy the sheet iron industries

Free trade in at least 100 other articles produced in this country, most of which would be produced in sufficient quantities for home consumption if proyerly protected.

A Useful Dog.

A gentleman living in Boston, says the Boston Post, has a small boy, not more than five years old, who has an inveterate habit of running away. He is a sturdy, stout-legged little chap, of great courage and enterprise, but his father and mother have been put to a good deal of anxiety on his account. Sometimes he is found in the next town, sometimes by the railroad and again in a certain pasture where he enjoys the congenial society of several young colts, but it is always a matter of doubt where he will be discovered. Recently, however, the family have acquired a mongrel little terrier, recommended for the purpose, who hunts up Sammy with unerring accuracy. Whenever Sammy is missing, his mother shows his jacket to the dog and tells him to find the boy, whereupon the animal sets off with his nose to the ground, the hired man or somebody else follows and in due time the young vagabond is brought to bay,

"Well, I'll tell you, said Mildred. "One is assaulting with intent to deprive of life, and the other is killing with intent to preserve in brine." And Amy failed to see the point.

Volunteer Firemen.

The ninth annual convention of the Volunteer Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania was called to order in the Opera House at Shamokin, Wednesday morning, by President S. S. Thomas, of Lebanon. About two hundred delegates were present.

It is proposed to amend the name by striking out the word "volunteer." The object of this is to make the paid companies eligible to membership. This will enable them to increase their strength for the purpose of securing legislation at Harrisburg. In other States the 2 per tax paid by volunteer fire organization, and it is the purpose of the Pennsylvania firemen to secure 1 per cent of this fund, if possible. Heretofore the insurance companies have been too powerful for them.

The Harrisburg Telegraph says: "If ever the Volunteer Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania strikes the word 'volunteer' from its title it will be a sorry day for the association," said an old fireman. Being pressed to give a reason for his assertion, he said that if the "volunteer" is struck out it will pave the way for the admission as delegates of all kinds of agents for fire apparatus—hose agents, patent coupling solicitors, fire extinguisher agents, and pretty much every other kind of agents who pester the firemen and make the life of a councilman an unhappy one. The State Association then will be a body of men bent on working little schemes.

Rules For Drawing Fire Portraits.

Here is an entertaining experiment that any boy or girl may try:

Take a saturated solution of nitrate of potash (saltpetre), and with a quill pen or fine brush draw any picture, design or words upon a piece of white, absorbent paper. The lines should be kept away from each other, and the entire subject coarsely drawn in outline. When dry the lines will be nearly invisible; but if one of them be touched with the glowing end of an extinguished match a spark of fire will run through the paper following the lines already traced, and cutting out the design as if with an invisible knife.

This experiment is explained by the chemical constitution of the saltpetre.

The salt contains a large amount of oxygen, so loosely combined that it readily leaves the nitrogen and potash, and unites with the carbon of the paper when heated to the point of ignition. The heat developed by the combustion is not sufficient to ignite the paper, except when it has been saturated by the oxygen-giving salt; and so the spark of fire, which is really only an indication of a violent chemical reaction, follows the lines previously traced. If an actual flame were brought into contact with the paper, of course the whole would be consumed; but the heat of the glowing charcoal is just sufficient to start the combustion by the aid of the oxygen in the saltpetre.

Free Trade.

Plunder the poor.
Enlarge poor farms.
Multiply tenement houses.
Shrivel the public revenue.
Drain the County of money.
Drive labor largely to foreign lands.
Lower the standard of comfort.
Scale down all salaries and profits.
Unsettle all forms of mercantile business.
Inundate this country with foreign goods.
Revive here the British Colonial system.
Universally reduce the value of farming land.
At once turn the balance of trade against us.
Strike the skilled laborer first and most severely.
Destroy the possibility of diversified employment.
Paralyze the arm of the worker and empty his pocket.
Deaden the energies of the people of the United States.
Tend directly to stop the development of material resources.
Close up thousands of mills, factories, furnaces and workshops.
Add greatly to the wealth of the rich and make the poor poorer.
Leave skilled labor the alternative of idleness or English wages.
Rifle our pockets to swell the income of greedy foreign corporations.
Empty the building associations of their tens of millions of dollars.

A NOVEL IDEA.—Two teachers of languages were discussing matters and things relative to their profession. "Do your pupils pay up regularly on the first of each month?" asked one of them. "No they wait for weeks and weeks before I get my pay, and sometimes don't get it at all. You can't well dun the parents for the money" "Why don't you do as I do? I always get my money regularly" "How do you manage it?" "It is very simple. For instance, I am teaching a boy French, and on the first day of the month don't pay for the lesson. In that event I give the boy the following sentence to translate and write out at home: "I have no money. The month is up. Hast thou got any money? I need money very much. Why hast thou not brought the money this morning? Did thy father not give thee any money? Has he no money in the pocket-book of his uncle's great aunt? That fetches them. Next morning you bet the boy boy brings the money."

A tremendous explosion recently occurred in a hall in which over two thousands people were assembled, but no one was hurt. It was an explosion of laughter.

The true meaning of the woman's suffrage movement is easy to see. Woman wants to be first in war, as well as first in peace, and first in the hearts of her countrymen.

Mrs. Bascomb—"They say that Jim Simpkin's lost all his money in a Pharaoh bank in New York. I can tell you, them Egyptians air a grasping lot. The Children of Israel found that out."

Lady—"Are these eggs fresh?" Smart Boy—(on deck while the boss is away)—"You bet they are fresh. We don't salt our eggs. We've had them on ice right here in the box for three weeks."

Wife (who has been driven nearly frantic by a habit of her husband) "John, I read to-day about a man out in Minnesota whose wife killed him because he said 'I want to know' so much." Husband (surprised)—"I want to know."—Judge.

The man who was convulsed with laughter at a woman who was trying to sharpen a pencil, was soon afterwards discovered trying to cut a paper pattern by the united efforts of a pair of scissors, his right hand, lower jaw and two thirds of his tongue.

Wild turkeys have lately been acclimatized in Austria, though such a thing has hitherto been considered almost impossible. From four hen turkeys and three cocks, brought from the American prairies, the colony has increased to about 580 individuals.

Lady (entering editor's sanctum)—"I should like to find out, sir, something about the condition of the poor in this town." Editor—"Well, ma'am, we are well supplied with potatoes and cordwood, but a new pair of trousers or a spring overcoat would be quite acceptable."

NAVAL BALLOONING.—Successful experiments in the use of captive balloons on shipboard have been made in the French Navy. One ascent was made to the height of 1,300 feet, observations were taken of vessels and military works over an extended area, photographic views were obtained, and communications were constantly exchanged with the ship and with stations on shore.

The Princess Midas.

One of the remarkable women of the age is Miss Cornwell, whose success in deciding upon and estimating the properties of mines, has won for herself the title of "The Princess Midas." She is English, but in babyhood was taken to Australia. Five years ago she began to visit mines and ask questions. She listened to the explanation of theories, and got practical miners to teach her what they knew. To the theories and facts thus obtained she added her own intuitions and judgments, and thus developed such a very remarkable faculty for determining the value of mines that many persons think she has the gift of second sight.

A kiss is thus defined in a love letter written in 1678 and translated from the German: "What is a kiss? A kiss is, as it were, a seal, expressing our sincere attachment; the pledge of future union; a dumb, but at the same time, audible language of a loving heart; a present, which at the time it is given takes from us the impression of an ivory press; a crimson balsam for a wounded heart; a sweet bite of the lips, an affectionate pinching of the mouth; a delicious dish which is eaten with scarlet spoons; a sweetmeat which does not satisfy our hunger; a fruit which is planted and gathered at the same time, the quickest exchange of questions and answers of two lovers; the fourth degree of love."

12 Pounds of Tumor

is a hideous thing to have attached to a human frame, yet Mr. Reuben Severance, of Upper Stillwater, (part of Old Town, Me.,) had one in his groin which he carried for about ten years. It began to form about fourteen years ago, being at first hardly larger than a pea. Mr. Severance, in his sworn statement before ex-Governor D. F. Davis, of Maine, says:

"At first it did not trouble me much but as it grew in size it was accompanied by severe darting pains. Food did not digest; had attacks of dizziness; roaring sounds in ears and passed sleepless nights. In 1885 tumor weighed several pounds and extended to knee. Now least exertion caused intense, tearing pain like sticking of needles in the flesh. Abandoned hope and took to bed. Physicians declined to cut it out, saying I was too old and weak to survive. Am 76 years of age. Some one recommended Brown's Sarsaparilla. I experienced immediate change for better. Appetite returned; food ceased to trouble me; ringing noises left my head, and best of all, the tumor began to shrivel up and disappear. It is now and has been for some time entirely gone. Can and do de good days work. I say God bless the man who invented this medicine. He should wear a crown. I mean always to keep by me a bottle of Brown's Sarsaparilla while I live.

With this statement we have paper signed by postmaster, druggist, as well as seven of the town officials, stating they know the above to be true, and ex-Gov. Davis also adds his evidence. There is no case of blood disease which cannot be cured by

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Ath-lo-pho-ros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 8, 1887.

Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.

CHAUNCEY B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec 26, 1887.

I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 30 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.

How to Grind Coffee.

It may not be generally known that the degree of fineness or coarseness to which coffee is ground will materially affect the character of the liquid; but if any one doubts the truth he can test it for himself. Let him make coffee by the boiling process and use pulverized coffee, or by percolation [with a French pot] and use it coarsely ground and see if it does not in the former instance produce a muddy decoction, which it is almost impossible to clear and in the latter a weak, flat liquid not deserving the name of beverage.

Coffee makers should distinctly bear in mind the difference between the two methods of making coffee and grind their coffee accordingly, or order it from their grocer either ground "coarse" or "pulverized." They should not depend upon the grocery clerk to remember their usual method, but should order distinctly every time. Many conscientious dealers have been blamed for furnishing unsatisfactory coffee when the real fault lay in the failure of the purchaser to understand the above difference.

But it would be better for the coffee to be freshly ground as wanted, and this can be easily done, as family coffee mills are now made which pulverizes the coffee perfectly and easily.—Table Talk.

A Wonderful Photograph Instrument.

A marvelous little instrument which can be carried in one's pocket, has been patented, which by the instantaneous process will photograph accurately to the number of one hundred and upward after a little preparation. The plates are on a roll, and each picture will be two and five eighths inches in diameter. Each instrument is adjusted to a standard focus when made, and while operating the operator has every object beyond three feet within this focus, even to the extreme distance. In operating all the holder has to do is to remove the cap from the lens, hold the camera steadily aimed at the object desired and press the trigger pin on the side of the camera with the thumb of the left hand. Thereupon the shutter revolves and the exposure is made. By turning the key on top one complete revolution the exposed film is wound off and is put in its place, ready for another exposure.

—We notice with some regret that our struggling contemporary, the Item, is more remarkable for what it "don't know" than for what it is does know. For instance, when it received a ticket for an entertainment its response was "don't know" what entertainment it is to be and when it reads Mr. Frank Westcott's statement of what the Logan Hose Company will or will not do its response is that it "don't know" what the Company's grievances are. Really the Item should be informed on these topics. That is what its readers require.

—The citizens of Mercer have held a public meeting protesting against the location of one of the State Miners Hospital at Mercer. Prevailing opinion seemed to be that there were many cities in the district which needed the hospital a hundred times where Mercer needs it once, and that the access to Mercer by railroad was such as to make the hospital absolutely useless to the district outside of the village of Mercer should it be located there.

—Judge Rowe, of Franklin county, has decided that a late act gives a woman power to sue her husband for an old debt. In the case in question the woman loaned her husband a large sum of money thirty-two years ago. If this decision is sustained by the Supreme Court what a hustling there will be by married women throughout the State to recover money loaned in a spasm of kindness. Judge Rowe is considered one of the ablest jurists in the State.

—Governor Beaver has been asked to allow John Robison, confined in the Western Penitentiary for killing a man his freedom for a day in order that he may lead in a parade of a volunteer fire company of which he was once captain. His old comrades offer bonds for $20,000 for his safe return to prison. There must be a good spot in that man's nature, when so much love as that remains in the breast of his erstwhile companions.

—The following notice is from the Reynoldsville, Clearfield county Paper, of the 20th inst: "Mrs Samuel Richards, of Ohiotown, a venerable lady of some 70, odd years, went the way of all flesh Friday last and was interred at the Baptist cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The deceased came to Reynoldsville 17 years ago from Centre county. She was greatly respected and liked in the community.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS HAVE THEIR DAY AND WILL BE FOLLOWED BY THE UNION LABORERS.

On Tuesday the Prohibition county convention was held in this place. People forgot all about it until they saw several ministerial looking gentlemen on the street. Then they asked whether it was a Synod, a convocation or a classis which was in session and some one said it was a prohibition convention. These Prohibitionists wear badges. There is always a gold crank and sometimes a portrait of their candidate for President, Gen. Fiske. But all the delegates didn't look like clergymen, for there was one who came over from Philipsburg on a bicycle and wearing a bicycle uniform. It is said he started from Philipsburg at the same time the other delegates started from there on the train and reached Bellefonte the same time. Consequently this Prohibitionist is a good bicyclist.

County Chairman Zeigler was on hand and had brought with him some flowers from his conservatory. They were pretty. They met in the Arbitration room of the Court House, because it was small, being afraid to venture into the court room for fear of being lost. We are told that there were between 20 and 30 delegates in attendance. We had the pleasure of looking in on them just after dinner. They were then singing some spirited hymns from the Moody and Sankey Gospel collection. We observed Rev. Mr. Laning, Baptist minister at Unionville, among the number.

Some one consoled them on their small attendance by assuring them that in four years more they would be so numerous that they will be forced to go to Altoona to find a building large enough to accommodate them,

The convention was called to order by Chairman Zeigler. Dr. W. S. Bigelow, of Philipsburg, was called to preside and William Miller of Philipsburg to officiate as recorder. The convention adopted resolutions and nominated the following county ticket :

Assemblymen—Dr. Isaac Guss, of Philipsburg, and J. W. Bedford, of Snow Shoe

Jury Commissioner—W. J. Dale.

Coroner—Dr. W. S. Bigelow.

NOTES.

The delegates present represented Bellefonte, Philipsburg, Unionville, Millheim and the townships of Potter, Spring, Union, Boggs and Snow Shoe.

When the county chairman was called on for his report he responded verbally, giving also the report of a committee appointed at the convention of September 20, 1887; showing a deficit of $76.50 due himself and C. Dinges. He earnestly asked for a steadfast perseverence in the work and a faithful adherence to the Prohibition party. Dr. Isaac Guss then gave a report of the expenses to the State and National Conventions which was left to be referred to the committee on finance.

The committees appointed were as follows : Committee on Platform, Rev. J. W. Bedford, Dr. Isaac Guss, Rev. M. B. Laning, and R. B. Hartman ; Committee on Finance, F. Potts Green, Walter Gray, Bond Valentine and R. D. Showalter ; Committee on Badges, C. H. Davis, F. P. Green.

One hundred and sixty-five dollars was pledged for campaign purposes and to pay off present indebtedness.

The following resolutions were adopted : 1st, Resolved, That the convention express its thanks to the editors of the various county papers for gratuitously publishing the call for this convention. 2d, Resolved, That we express our hearty thanks to the county commissioners for the grant of this room in which to hold the convention.

On motion, Walter Gray, of Philipsburg, was elected county chairman, Charles C. Murray, secretary ; J. Gray, assistant secretary, and J. Zeigler of Fleming P. O., treasurer. On motion of Rev. Bedford, a vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring chairman for the efficient discarge of his duties.

On motion three conferrees—Isaac Guss, W. S. Bigelow and William Miller—were appointed.

The convention made a great mistake and was manifestly unjust in the allusions it made to the Republican party in its platform. We reprint it verbatim, knowing that its very injustice and unfairness will cause any persons who may be contemplating a prohibition vote to pause and cast their ballot for the gallant Gen. Harrison.

PLATFORM.

WHEREAS, It is an admitted fact that, "The first concern of good government" is the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of their homes: but, whereas, neither the Republican, nor Democratic parties have made any provision for this first concern of good government, but on the contrary encouraged drunkenness by electing a liquor manufacturer to preside over the Republican National Convention, at Chicago, and by honoring liquor sellers with a position on their committee, and by yielding to their dictation; by nominating a man for President who is claimed by the liquor dealers as being in accord with their interest, and who admits that his party has been in dalliance with the liquor traffic, by the drinking and drunkenness of many of the delegates en route and while at said convention; and by the shameful boast of the Democratic party that it is able to control a majority of the saloon vote, and, therefore Resolved, That we are more than ever convinced of the necessity of the Prohibition party movement and call upon all the conscientious voters in both the old parties to join our ranks for the overthrow of the liquor traffic.

Resolved, That we endorse the National, and Pennsylvania State platform of the Prohibition Party, and that we take pride in asking voters to support General Clinton C. Fisk and Dr. John A. Brooks our candidates for President and Vice President, as also all the candidates on the State and county tickets, also Resolved, That the Prohibition party of Centre county, in Convention Assembled, hereby pledge unwavering support to such a Revision of the tax laws of the State as will secure a just and equitable enrollment of all real estate, and corporation and personal property, according to its actual cash value, and the assessment of a horizontal and uniform mill rate of tax upon all property, to meet the requirements of State and county governments in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, excepting only such as is exempt from all taxation.

ANOTHER COUNTY CONVENTION.

On Tuesday at noon, T. P. Rynder, the state and county chairman of what is known as the Union Labor party, handed to us the following call for a county convention. If there are any Union Laborers among the readers of this paper they will be interested in reading it :

"UNION LABOR COUNTY CONVENTION."

The Centre county convention of the Union Labor party will be held in the Court House at Bellefonte on Saturday, the 13th of October, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Each voting precinct will be entitled to one delegate, and each Union Labor Club to one delegate.

Free houses, free school books, equal taxation, limitation of immigration, service pensions and protection are our principles, and we invite all citizens who believe in them to join our ranks.

T. P. RYNDER,
Chairman County Committee,
Milesburg, Sept., 25, 1888.

Mr. M. M. Graffius, of Huntingdon, Pa., visited Bellefonte on Thursday. He is a very entertaining and facinating young gentleman, and this was his first visit to Bellefonte. He took in the Granger's picnic on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ella Rock, of Vinton, Iowa, eldest daughter of Rev. D. L. Hughes, who was a pupil at the Academy seventeen years ago, arrived Thursday with two of her children, and will spend a few days with her uncle, Rev. James P. Hughes.

Dr. VanTries, of Pennsylvania Furnace, called on us Wednesday. We understand that he will spend the winter in Philadelphia attending medical lectures and after that may locate at some other point to continue the practice of medicine.

Horace Blair, of Tyrone, has spent several years at State College, but found it more difficult this year than usual to temporarily sever his associations with the place of his residence to return to his studies. But he did it, leaving many disconsolate female hearts behind.

Mr. Case, foreman at the nail factory, has been ill during ten days past at his home on Howard street. In some way he hurt his hand, which became extremely sore and from which he has suffered excruciating pain. The injured member now shows some signs of healing.

Mr. J. G. Kurtz, an inventor and printer who resides in the city of Milton, spent a few hours of Friday in town. Mr. Kurtz is erecting a new residence in Milton and while here he studied some of the Bellefonte specimens of modern architure and took home with him valuable points.

Mrs. R. E. Williams, who has been the guest of Mrs. Al. Warner of Lamb street for several weeks, departed for her home in Columbia, Lancaster county, on Tuesday. She was accompanied by her two children. Mrs. W. is a very agreeable lady, and made many friends during her visit here.

Mr William P. Duncan of Philipsburg, was a visitor in Bellefonte on Friday. He was one of the citizens of that place who interested themselves most actively in securing that place as the location of one of the miner's hospitals, It will be located near the borough on a site yet to be selected.

Mr and Mr. Burchfield, of Philipsburg, and their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Bridge of Clearfield, drove from Philipsburg in a carriage on Tuesday of this week. They stopped several places on the road and on Thursday arrived at the Patrons picnic ground. They came on to Bellefonte in the afternoon, getting here ahead of the heavy rain storm.

W. E. Gray, Esq., has a unique and truly interesting badge which he wears attached to his watch chain. It is a gold medal cast in 1840, containing a log cabin on one side and other appropriate inscriptions for that campaign on the reverse side. The interesting recollections of the campaign for which it was made renders it specially valuable.

Ex-Governor Curtin has been in Lancaster this week.

Governor Beaver is enjoying the great centennial in Pittsburg.

Rev. Father Power, of Lock Haven, spent Tuesday, in Bellefonte.

Mr. Tom Rawlins, of Lewistown, is visiting relatives, in this place.

Miss Sallie Tyson of Philipsburg, is recovering from a period of illness.

Miss Kittie Bauer, of this place is spending a few days in Huntingdon.

Miss Jennie Laughlin, of this place is at home again, after an absence of several weeks.

Mr. P. C. Achenbach, the Bishop street baker, went to Williamsport Monday morning.

Samuel Reynolds, Jr., and Miss Reynolds, of Lancaster, are guests at Major W. F. Reynolds' residence.

Lee Rynder the bright young son of T. P. Rynder, of Milesburg, is about to enter the Bellefonte High school as a pupil.

Rev. Edwin E. Hoshour and Mr. H. Y. Stitzer are attending a meeting of the Lutheran synod in Belleville, Huntingdon county.

Rev. Robert Hamill, D.D., of Lemont, was in town Monday. He is preparing for the meeting of Presbytery soon to be held there.

Mr. John Shaughensey, an employe in the glass works here, started to Pittsburg on Tuesday to take a position in a factory in that city.

We had the pleasure of seeing Charley Schroyer in town the other day; Hayes Schroyer also alighted from the train here at the same time.

Governor Beaver, John W. Johnston, Esq., and other distinguished Harrisburgians, renewed their acquaintance with our town on Sunday.

Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D., has received as a present from some one in New York three large volumes of Ridpath's History of the World, a grand work.

Mr. Frank Miller, who several years ago read law in the office of the late Judge Adam Hoy, is at present in town. He is a druggist located in Lake county, Ohio.

Miss Cora P. Scoby, the stenographer in Beaver & Gephart's law office, went to Chili Station, New York State, Monday morning, to spend a three weeks' vacation.

Mr. B. F. Hunter, of Buffalo Run, was in Bellefonte this morning. With him were Joseph Corl and wife of Winnebago, Illinois, who are guests at his hospitable home.

Miss Emma Aikens, one of Bellefonte's handsomest young ladies, stopped in Tyrone a few hours Monday, enroute to Mountain Seminary at Birmingham.—Tyrone Herald.

Mr. Eddie Valentine, son of Mr. A. S. Valentine of Atlantic City, is visiting in town. He has grown into quite a tall young man, but retains his pleasant face and genial manners as of yore.

Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D., has at length brought to an end the preparation of the minutes of the great Methodist convention in New York City, of which he was the secretary. It was a stupendous labor quite quickly performed.

Mr. Hartzoff, who was the practical man superintending the starting of the Centre Iron Co. furnace, on Saturday departed for Birmingham, Alabama, where he will superintend similar works. The company here will greatly miss his experienced services.

Mrs. Chas A. Everett, of Lemont, was a passenger on the evening train on Monday. She goes with her son, Allen, to visit friends in Canton, Chayugh Falls, Cleveland and her mother living at Kent, Ohio. She will be away from home four weeks and probably before her return will visit the Centennial in Columbus.

Ex-County Commissioner James David, of Clinton county, was in town on Monday. Mr. David is a very remarkable man. He is over six feet in height and in early life he was a man of far more than ordinary physical power. Even now at eighty years of age he is erect and active; hale and hearty. It is easy to believe that he will live to celebrate the centennial of his birth.

When Maud Williams, a little daughter of Ross Williams, went to the picnic on Thursday her terrier dog followed. It was tan color with ochre color above eyes, on breast and legs. The dog is lost, strayed, or stolen and Maud, who valued the animal highly, takes this method of recovering it. Whoever knows where it is will please communicate with Ross Williams, Centre Democrat office.

Mr. W. S. Grossman, of Lena, Illinois, who is now in Boalsburg, is rejoicing over the prospect that Harrison will be elected. In 1840 he cast his first vote for William Harrison. As he is becoming more feeble he fears his vote this year for Harrison's distinguished grandson, Benjamin Harrison, will be his last. We trust, however, that the good times which will follow Mr. Harrison's election will greatly prolong Mr. Grossman's life and really renew his youth so that he will live to vote for many more Republican candidates for that office.

Thrilling Experience of a Hunter.

John A. Fetterolf, of Troxelville, is a well known hunter. He recently had a most thrilling experience in the Seven Mountains, near the border of this county. Traveling on foot at night from the lumber camp where he is employed to his home, he lost his way. While endeavoring to recover his bearings he thought he heard a voice up the mountain ahead of him. Thinking to go to the aid of one who was in trouble he made his way through the brush, shouting as he went and imagining that he heard replies to each call. When he had progressed some distance he was horrified to discover that the cries were made by a panther. He stopped and tried to find a match in his clothing with which to start a fire, but discovered that his match box had been left at the lumber camp. He had nothing but a rusty knife. Just then he saw the gleam of two bright eyes and heard a purring sound. The eyes advanced toward him and he kicked at them, His foot came in contact with an animal which uttered a cry of distress. He realized that he had kicked a young panther. Then the large fiery eyes of the parent panther were visible to him thirty feet away. They came bounding to the aid of the young animal. Getting behind a tree Mr. Fetterolf kept his eyes fixed on those of the panther, which, however, did not advance, but kept guard over her young. Through all the long night until morning this continued, until at the first dawn of light the old panther returned, taking her young one along. Mr. Fetterolf never felt more relieved than by the departure of these animals. He found his way again and was soon at home.

Sermons in the Churches.

Services were held in all the churches on Sunday. The ministers delivered able discourses. In the Episcopal church Rev. J. O. Davis' morning discourse was based on the 4th, 5th and 6th verses of Ephesians 4, which relates to the unity of the church.

He said a difficulty meets us in accepting the words of the Scripture and the facts of history in regard to the oneness of the church, because our friends whom we revere are members of other worshiping bodies. He said there are from 400 to 600 such sects in this country. The assertion that one is as good as another is controverted by the very fact that they have separated. None can claim a history of over 400 years. Those who say the Church of England dates only from Henry VIII have not read history correctly. When Pope Gregory sent a monk to christianize England—he found the church of England already there The council of Nice formulated its profession of faith in the third century, not a new expression of belief, but what was then accepted by the churches.

His evening text was from II Timothy 3 ; 15 and 16—"The Value and Power of the Scriptures." It was a very strong sermon.

Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D, delivered two extremely able sermons on Sunday, In the evening the vast auditorium was crowded and the sermon highly appreciated, the subject being a popular one, 'Courtship and Marriage."

The Road to Heaven.

"A map of the road to heaven, by a soul in purgatory," writes an author and literary critic, describing his ideal, and humorously confessing his failure to attain it. Why, then, suffer in the purgatory of disease, when the way of escape is in plain sight? As a remedy for scrofulous affections of the throat and lungs, including consumption in the formative stage of tubercles, catarrh, chronic bronchitis, tumors and morbid growths of all kinds caused by impure or impoverished blood, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has neither a rival nor a worthy competitor.

Chronic nasal catarrh positively cured by Dr. Sage's Remedy.

AN EVENT UPON WHICH WEATHER PROPHETS BASE THEIR PREDICTIONS.

From calculations made at the United States Hydrographic Office the autumnal equinox occurred Saturday morning at 53 minutes 7½ seconds past 9 o'clock. At this time the center of the sun passed through the plane of the celestial equator, and the days and nights were equal.

This occurs twice each year, in March and September, the former being known as the vernal and the latter as the autumnal equinox. The events are watched with great interest by seafaring men as well as landsmen, whose employment is dependent upon the state of the weather, and forecasts are made of the eather which will rule during the six months following the equinox.

The calculations are based upon the direction of the wind at the time of the equinox, and the old sailor will stake his last quid upon his predictions. Was the wind from the north it would be a cold, hard winter, with plenty of snow if it blew from the northeast. A northwest wind foreshadowed cold and dry weather; from the southwest warm and dry and from the southeast warm and wet.

Men who have made these semi-annual predictions for years aver that the signs have never failed, and that all other foundations for weather prognostications sink into insignificance, alongside the equinoctial period. Now let every man judge for himself, as the facts were at the hour named for the sun's passage through the celestial equinox.

A PUGILIST named Fulljames, who was a notorious character among the ruffians of the prize ring, was killed on Saturday in a fight with a Dakota bruiser. The account of the contest is a horrible recital of brutishness such as would have disgraced even a pair of savages. There will not be much sympathy expended on Fulljames on the part of decent people. Indeed, the only regret will be that the other brute did not meet with the same fate. There is no better use which the professional pugilists can make of the prize ring than to employ it as a slaughtering pen in which they can kill one another off as rapidly as possible. So long as the law is powerless to put an end to this barbarous pastime the next best way of bringing it into disfavor is to permit the brutes to pummel each other into eternity. The fellow who killed Fulljames performed the only useful service for society that probably can be placed to his credit, and the law ought now to make short work of him.

MR. JOHN JARRETT, who is exceedingly fair in all of his observations and statements, summarizes the situation among the working people in Indiana in the following encouraging style: "The general sentiment of the workingmen at all these points," he said, "is healthy and not only largely favors the election of Harrison and Morton, but is rapidly tending toward such a condition as will make it practically solid in favor of the Republican ticket. My meetings have all been largely attended, many of them crowded to overflowing, and I have the satisfaction of knowing that I have had in my audiences a large number of workingmen who have heretofore voted the Democratic ticket. As you know, I advocate a protective tariff for the sake of protection to our American industries as plainly and forcibly as I am able to do it. I have found the workingman everywhere I have been ready to listen and are disposed to be fair in their consideration of the arguments advanced. Among the workingmen the misrepresentation of General Harrison's record and sentiments has had no effect whatever."

THE ladies are an important item in politics in the influence they exert over their husbands, friends or beaux. The Republicans treat the ladies properly which fact should attract their united support. As illustration of this we recall the two meetings held in this place. The Republicans were first and the ladies were given honored seats in the meeting, dozens of them taking advantage of the privilege. They also desired to attend the Democratic meeting, but they were permitted to enter and retire without any attention being paid to them. They remained all the evening in the Republican meeting, but left the Democratic meeting long before it was ended. Ladies, use all your influence for the party which is gallant and attentive to you.

FREE TRADER KILGORE is making a splendid record as a good Democrat from Texas. He opposed the bill to promote General Sheridan. He characterized, from his place on the floor of the House of Representatives, Union soldiers, applicants for pensions, as paupers. He prevented the immediate consideration of the bill to aid the yellow fever sufferers. Lastly he opposed the bill to pension General Sheridan's widow. He is showing by his works that he is a first class Democrat, and from the Democratic point of view nothing within the gift of Grover Cleveland is too good for Kilgore.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES, the author of the bill offering $100,000 for a sure cure for yellow fever, is receiving letters from all over the Union from people who seem to think that he is the one to apply to and that he will pay out of his own pocket. Mr. Barnes desires to explain to the United States at large that he proposes that Congress shall appropriate the $100,000. He adds that he hopes to secure a favorable report from the Commerce Committee, to which his resolution was referred, and also to get it through the House.

SAID a Democratic workingman in New York the other day: "I would rather pay one cent more for a dinner pail and establish an industry worth $30,000,000 annually to this nation than continue to support 100,000 Englishmen in making tin plate, when that number of Americans want employment." The argument is sound. It is sound from the workingman's standpoint especially, and it is sound from the standpoint of every intelligent American citizen.

THE Democrats in Texas Mill's district are in revolt, and he has been sent for to come home at once. His majority last time was good, but the revolt threatens to overcome it. The Farmer's Alliance is a powerful organization, and it is against Mills, the Hon. Tom Smith its Vice President, being in the lead. Mills may be beaten.

JAMES MADISON said in Congress in 1812 that this country could never become an independant nation unless we protect home industries. Andrew Jackson said virtually the same thing in his message to Congress in 1829. These old fellows were very good Democrats.

PAUPERIZED LABOR.

The man who prefers British Free Trade to the American system of Protection should take a trip to Europe and get his eyes opened as to the alleged advantages of the former. If he is unable to do this he might devote his leisure moments to studying some very suggestive figures recently made public by an American who has visited England and made a special study of the subject. He says:

My tour among the working people of England began at Liverpool, where I landed July 26. The first fact that confronted me was that there were 817,289 people supported as paupers in England and Wales alone during the past year, and 442,289 were in an actual state of destitution in Ireland. Leaving poor Ireland out of the reckoning, the percentage of paupers among the population of England and Wales is 3,171. Perhaps something of this is due to the fact that 10,207 persons own two-thirds of England and Wales and 1,942 own the same proportion of the land of Ireland.

This is what Cleveland and the Southern Free Traders propose to introduce in this country. Nearly a million paupers in England and Wales, in spite of the boasted cheap food and cheap clothing which accompany Free Trade, and nearly a half million human beings in the same condition in Ireland!

LOOK OUT for an avalanche of Democratic lies, slanders and forgeries during the early part of October. The "bureaus" are now preparing the "stuff" and will soon flood the country with it. It is the last resort of the Free Trade crusade. Republicans are warned to be on the lookout for the last card.

FOR THE AMERICAN FARM HANDS.—A Democratic farmer in western New York is reported as saying: "I am going to vote for Free Trade because I am paying too much for hired help. I have had to pay from $1 to $1.26, when 75 cents a day is sufficient. Free Trade will reduce it to that much."

Home Evidence

No other preparation has won success at home equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. In Lowell, Mass., where it is made, it is now, as it has been for years, the leading medicine for purifying the blood, and toning and strengthening the system. This "good name at home" is "a tower of strength abroad."

People of Lowell

It would require a volume to print all Lowell people have said in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Mr. Albert Estes, living at 28 East Pine Street, Lowell, for 15 years employed as boss carpenter by J. W. Bennett, president of the Erie Telephone Company, had a large running sore come on his leg, which troubled him a year, when he began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The sore soon grew less in size, and in a short time disappeared.

Praise Hood's Sarsaparilla

Jos. Dunphy, 214 Central Street, Lowell, had swellings and lumps on his face and neck, which Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cured.

Mrs. C. W. Marriott, wife of the First Assistant Fire Engineer of Lowell, says that for 16 years she was troubled with stomach disorder and sick headache, which nothing relieved. The attacks came on every fortnight, when she was obliged to take her bed, and was unable to endure any noise. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after a time the attacks ceased entirely.

Many more might be given had we room. On the recommendation of people of Lowell, who know us, we ask you to try

THOUGHT.

Thought conquers foolishness, thought places political economy on a business footing, thinking is a duty because it is man's duty not to be a fool. Coercion in thought reduces to pulp the backbone of the mind.

Thought keeps alive the mind of man. Suppress thought and God would rule over a world of idiots.

The unthinking man is an intellectual pauper. He has no ideas but those obtained by "out door relief." Such is the mental condition of the average American free trade advocate.

The average supporter of the free trade theory never thinks, but receives his ideas from those who dupe him.

An ignorant man has no suspicion what a superior person may do, consequently he is liable to become the victim of the intelligent cunning.

Protection will be a success, universally, whenever there is no imposition or victims. The basic principle of free trade is imposition; the unthinking its victims. The foundation of Protection is demonstrative knowledge just to the extent a man knows he is a Protectionist.

Lands," comprising:

1st. About 12,350 acres of unseated lands situated in Rush township, Centre county, and Boggs, Decatur, Morris and Woodward townships, Clearfield county, being tracts and parts of tracts surveyed upon warrants to Thomas Allison, Jacob Stoust, William Potter, John McClellan, John Eberman, James Morrison, Hugh McIntire, John Lowden, Michael Ross, Alex Scott, Matthew Slough, Frederick Dorsch, Paul Zantzinger, John Graff, John Hambright, Josiah McElwaine, Ferguson McElwaine, Martin Ehler, Henry Slough, Matthias Slough, Thomas Grant, Martin Myer, Samuel Rankin, Daniel Witmer, Christ Huber, Davis Old, Richard Atherton, John Reed, Robert Gray, William Evans, John Montgomery, Hugh Ely, Jacob Denning, John Drinker, Richard Thomas, Henry Drinker, John Skyren, Benjamin Wilson, and Mark Freeman, together with the rights, liberties, etc., appurtenant thereto. A considerable portion of these lands is underlaid with an excellent quality of bituminous coal and the facilities for ready transportation afforded by the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, and the Beech Creek Railroad, (both of which pass through parts of these lands) make them among the most desirable coal lands in the market, and as such especially deserving the attention of operators and capitalists—Title indisputable.

2nd. 19 Building-lots about 66 feet wide by 250 feet deep, in the borough of Philipsburg, Centre county, one numbered 108, on the general plan thereof, situated on the South-West corner of South Centre and Hickory Streets, and the others situated between Locust and Pine and North Centre and 6th Streets and numbered respectively 113, 114, 115, 116, 120, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 156, 157, 158, 187, 188, 189, 190, and 191, on the general plan of said Borough.

Also eleven unnumbered parcels of land in said Borough and in Rush township, aforesaid immediately adjacent thereto, equivalent to about 42 Town lots and situated mostly between Locust St. and the Railroad to Morrisdale.

TERMS OF SALE.—One third cash and balance in one and two years with interest secured by Bond and Mortgage. A reasonable deposit will be required when the property is struck down.

For any further information desired, application may be made to D. F. Merritt, Esq., No. 54, Exchange Place, New York City, or to the undersigned at Bellefonte, Penna.

NOTICE.—By virtue and authority of the powers and duties in me vested by the 11th section of Act of Assembly of the 24th of May, 1871, all fish-baskets, eel wires, kiddies, brush or fascine nets, or any other permanently set means of taking fish in the nature of a seine, which are grown to be wasteful and extravagant modes of fishing, existing in any of the streams within Centre county, are hereby declared common nuisances, and are ordered to be dismantled by their owners or managers, so as to render themselves no longer capable of taking or injuring fish of the streams of whatever kind, and if all such fish baskets, eel-wires, where they now exist, are not destroyed or dismantled within ten days after this notice, I shall proceed to remove and dismantle the same as directed by said 11th section of Act of 24th of May, 1871.

FIFTY-SIXTH REGIMENT REUNION.

We are requested to publish the following, which gives a description of the reunion of the 56th Regiment, P. V., at the Veteran's club Picnic, Milesburg, on Saturday, the 16th.

It was held at the speakers' stand. Those present were George Marts, Fred Sensor, L. B. Steer, Robert Hall, Irvin Alexander, J. C. Walters, Jacob Harnish, W. W. Horner, John Harnish, John J. Gingher, Samuel Barr, Calvin Waltz, John Harrison, S. H. Bennison, Samuel H. Williams, Perry McKinney, James H. Rankin, George Swinehart, George T. Michaels, of Lock Haven, and Harry Calhorn. On motion, the following officers were elected: Capt. George T. Michaels, president, and James H. Rankin secretary. Captain Williams spoke in regard to our monuments, and, on motion, it was

Resolved, That the reunion appointed by the President at the reunion of the 56th, 1887, be urged to speedy action, in having the place designated for our reunion, which of right ought to be on the very ground admitted by all as the place where the 56th fired the first volley and opened the battle of Gettysburg. It was also

Resolved, That a second reunion is desirable and necessary, and that J. M. Stover, secretary of the first reunion, be requested to call a second reunion at Philipsburg, at the time of the Centre County Veteran Club meeting.

Resolved, That in the death of Comrade Michael Runkle, Captain of Company F we feel that a true and faithful man and soldier has fallen. He obeyed his country's call, he obeyed the last summons, death, traceable to the loss of his arm.

Resolved, That hereafter in case of the death of any comrade of the 56th, the friends or comrades of the deceased be requested to send immediate notice to James H. Rankin, Bellefonte, Pa., who will notify comrades of the time and place of the funeral as given.

Before adjourning, and on motion of Captain Bennison, it was Resolved, That at Philpsburg, Pa., next Veteran Club picnic, 1889.

GEO. T. MICHAELS, President,
JAMES H. RANKIN, Secretary.

Startling Discovery.

The diicovery by the inhabitants of a locality hitherto unvisited by the pestilent scourge of fever and ague, that it exists in their very midst, is decidedly startling Such discoveries are made at every season, in every part of the Union. Subsequently, when it is ascertained, as it invariably is at such times, through the valuable experience of some one who has been benefited and cured, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a thoroughly efficacious eradicator of the malarial poison, and a means of fortifying the system against it, a feeling of more security and and tranquility reigns throughout the whole neighborhood. Besides the febrile forms of malarial disease, dumb ague and ague cake are removed by the potent action of the Bitters, to which science also gives its sanction as a remedy for rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, debility, kidney troubles, and all diseases impairing the organs of digestion and assimilation.

In the Schools.

The first real, active week of the fall school term ended on Friday and proved beyond the expectations. All the schools, in attendance, are up to the average at this time in the year and some are larger than they should be. Noticeable in this respect are the schools of Miss Levy and Miss Wright. The former has 87 and the latter 92.

This is not the time of year, when the attendance is largest. Not until the time when out doors work is ended do all the pupils attend.

The new apparatus for the primary schools promises excellent results and its operation is very interesting. Quite a number of instructors from other parts of the county are visiting the schools here to obtain new ideas on educational topics, and visits from directors, teachers, parents and the public generally will always be appreciated.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus of Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at had a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest, or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

—On Tuesday evening, October 2, a rich, rare and racy feast will be tendered the Republicans in their club room, in this place, in a speech by John A. Daley, of Curtin township. We heard Mr. Daley once in a military speech. It was exceedingly humorous and entertaining and on political questions it will be even better. Hear him.

Our Candidate for President

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people, because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitters has been given the highest place' because no other medicine has so well filled the the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have indorsed Electric Bitters and rely upon this great remedy in all troubles of Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. For all Malarial Fevers and diseases caused by Malarial Poisons, Electric Bitters can not be too highly recommended. Also cures Headache and Constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded. Price 50c. and $1 at W. C. Keplinger & Co's Drug Store.

Why the Leaves will Change Color.

This explanation of why the foliage takes on its bright colors before falling in the autumn is interesting. The common and old-fashioned idea is that all the red and golden glory we will soon see is caused by frosts. A true and scientific explanation of the cause of the coloring of leaves, stated briefly, is this: The green matter in the tissue of the leaf is composed of two colors, red and blue. When the sap ceases to flow in the autumn, and the natural growth of the trees ceases, oxidation of the tissue takes place. Under certain conditions the green of the leaf changes to red; under different conditions, it takes on a yellow or brown tint The difference in color is due to the difference in the combination of original constitutents of the tissues and to the varying conditions of climate, exposure and soil. A dry, cold climate produces more brilliant foliage than one that is bright and warm. This is the reason that our American autumns are so much more gorgeous than those of England. There are some things about leaves even science cannot explain. For instance, why only one or two trees growing side by side, of the same age and having the same exposure, should take on a brilliant red in the fall and the other should turn yellow, or why one branch of of a tree should be brightly colored and the rest of the tree have only a yellow or brown tint. The maples and oaks generally have the brightest colors.

The Population of Bellefonte

Is about 5,000, and we should say at least one half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free. Sold by all druggist.

—An exchange says that a couple of sleek-looking individuals are going about the country swindling township treasuries out of sums of money ranging from $12 to $50, on the pretense of repairing blackboards in school houses, only desiring the officials order for performing the work, which turns up in a few days as an order on the township's treasury, properly signed and cashed by an innocent party.

Dr. Theel, the celebrated Specialist, has yet to receive a case of special disease, nervous aud kidney disease, or blood poison that he did not promptly arrest in its progress and permanently cure. We would advise all suffering to consult the Doctor, personally or by letter, his knowledge and power of healing is most marvelous. Office 538 North Fourth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

Mrs. Dart's Triplets.
President Cleveland's Prize for the three best babies at the Aurora County Fair, in 1887, was given to these triplets, Mollie, Ida, and Ray, children of Mrs. A. K. Dart, Hamburgh, N. Y. She writes: "Last August the little ones became very sick, and as I could get no other food that would agree with them, I commenced the use of Lactated Food. It helped them immediately, and they were soon as well as ever, and I consider it very largely due to the Food that they are now so well." Lactated Food is the best Food for bottle-fed babies. It keeps them well, and is better than medicine when they are sick. Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00. At druggists. Cabinet photo. of these triplets sent free to the mother of any baby born this year.

Meeting of the Pennsylvania Reserves.

At the meeting of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association at Lancaster on Tuesday of this week, the following officers were elected: President, Andrew G. Curtin, Bellefonte; Vice Presidents, John I. Faller, Carlisle; John H. Taggart, Philadelphia; General H. G. Sickles, Philadelphia; Secretary, John Taylor, Philadelphia; Corresponding Secretary, Willis Collins, Philadelphia; Treasurer, W. D. Stauffer, Lancaster. West Chester was the first place of meeting. A resolution was adopted asking the Governor to use his influence with the Board of Commissioners on Gettysburg monuments to have extended the time for submission of designs for the regimental monuments until after the meeting of the next Legislature, it being the desire of the Association to have erected instead a memorial hall.

—The west is the place for cabbages, according to the following story by Judge Reece, of Oregon: "Why, gentlemen," said he, "in a store in the Williamette region I saw a woman come in and ask for some cabbage. The clerk cut a cabbage in four parts and put one piece on the scales. It weighed eighteen pounds—a seventy-five pound cabbage. I have myself put on the scales a bunch of grapes that weighed twenty-eight pounds, and it was not an uncommon bunch, either. I have seen a single potato that would make a meal, so far as a potato was concerned, for half a dozen persons."

Valuable Horses Killed.

There was a wholesale slaughter of valuable horses on the Pine Creek railroad Thursday morning, a mile or so from Jersey Shore Junction. Several horses and a colt owned by Harris McKinney, a Clinton county farmer, escaped from the pasture field and ran upon the railroad track. A freight train came along and three of the horses and the colt fell through a cattle guard and were killed by the engine. The other three horses in their fright dashed through a barbed wire fence and two of them were injured so badly that they may possibly die.

—Cyrus A. Adams died at his residence in Huntingdon on Wednesday nihgt and Geo. W. Spangler, Esq., of the same place, died on Thursday.

—Rev. Charles T. Steck has received the district nomination of the Democratic party for congress in the Williamsport district and is now a full fledged nominee.

—The little son of the late Mr. S. A. Stover, the only remaining member of of the family, will make his future home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

—A pair tree in the yard of W. A. Tobias of Millheim, is now in blossom. "Toby" is such a genial individual that it is a wonder that his trees don't bloom all the time.

—Young ladies from Milesburg now attending the Bellefonte High School are Misses Flora Smith, May Wright, Annie Essington, Fannie Gregg and Mary McCumpsey.

—None of the Democratic meetings are well attended this year, the people rebelling at the thought of being a party in this work of destroying the business institutions of the country.

—The twenty-forth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath school Association will be held in the Presbyterian church, Altoona, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

—The household furniture and many articles of valuable personal property, owned by the late Mr. S. A. Stover, will be exposed for sale at his late residence on Willow Bank street on Saturday afternoon.

—The Central Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod will meet in Belleville on September 27. On the 25th and 26th the Women's home and foreign missionary Society of Huntingdon Presbytery will hold a session in Lewistown.

—Again we would suggest to the managers of the Union cemetery to make an entrance to that beautiful enclosure through the south side, from the direction of Bishop street. The need for it is felt whenever a funeral occurs in that direction.

—A lady going in the picnic train on Wednesday morning from this place left a cloak on a board pile on which she had been seated waiting for the train. Mr. Barlett picked it up and left it at the ticket office where the owner may recover it.

—Mr. R. A. Beck informs us that the handsomest young lady in Bellefonte on Tuesday found a pair of spectacles which she left at his barber shop. They evidently belong to an elderly person. The owner may recover them by calling at Mr. Beck's.

—We regret to learn that several gambling schemes were in operation on the Patrons picnic ground and are sure that if Hon. Leonard Rhone or other of the managers had known of it they would have immediately squelched the nefarious operations.

—A personal letter from Prof. J. Milton Furey, received on Thursday, tells that he and his family are located most pleasantly in Lock Haven and that his school and pupils could not possibly be more satisfactory to him than they are. We are gratified to know that the change has proven such an advantageous one to him.

Notes from the Granger Picnic.

A LARGER ATTENDANCE THAN ON ANY PREVIOUS OCCASION.

The greatest expectations of the people were surpassed on Wednesday by the unprecedentedly large attendance at the picnic of the Centre county Patrons of Husbandry. The attendance is estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000 people. The woods were a surging mass of moving, cheerful, buoyant, yes even effervescent humanity.

The preparations made by the railroad company to convey this vast throng to the picnic ground was entirely inadequate. While hundreds wedged themselves into the crowded cars, scores were left behind, and all who went by rail to this famous Mecca of all excursionists fully earned the day's enjoyment, by the crowding and squeezing which they experienced. The girls said that they enjoyed it, and the boys looked as if they fully appreciated the situation.

About a mile and a quarter this side of the woods the engine of the moving train gave out. It puffed, and labored and breathed hard, but in very determined and emphatic tones it said that to go further was practically impossible. Poor engine! it had never pulled one thousand people before and the fright occasioned by the trial caused it to sink down in despair.

Over a mile from their destination! What could the people do? Another engine was sent for, but many of the people, impatient of delay (they had been waiting since before 11 o'clock and it was now nearly 1) started to walk. Others who had never made pedestrianism a practice resolved to wait and enjoy the squeezing. We have not yet heard of a young lady who walked. "All things come to them who wait," and at length a fresh, strong engine came to the train and after 1 o'clock deposited the great crowd on the picnic ground.

Word was received from both Governor Beaver and Victor Piolette that they would be at the picnic on Thursday. The principal address was made by a Mr. Downey, of Havre-de-Grace, Maryland. The gentleman very sensibly denounced monopolies and trusts, but committed the error, which we must attribute to ignorance, of associating these with the tariff. No one can give a fair study to this question without seeing plainly that the tariff discourages rather than promotes these evils. His speech was in many respects an able one and impressed the audience that the orator possessed a moderate degree of culture and learning, but a gentleman who conversed with him afterwards, discovered that this was not so, from whence arises the conviction that the speech was written for him by some one and he can repeat it with even more fluency than a parrot.

But although addresses are always sandwiched in to ornament every such occasion, to give the proper prestige, not one in ten care to or could listen to the speeches. The most clarion-tongued orator would fail to carry his eloquent words and sentences to the auricular nerves of people on the outer edges of the crowd, so that not one in ten attempts to listen. They go to picnic for other purposes. Here it was to see and be seen, to greet old acquaintances and to enjoy themselves, and not one did we meet who failed to derive transports of pleasure from the glorious occasion. The day was as perfect as if it had been selected from the three hundred and sixty-five for this sole purpose and the 15,000 people made the most of it, and breathed in health and happiness in alopathic doses. It was a rare time for politicians. They were there and never before felt so positively happy to meet their acquaintances, even if that acquaintance was so remote that they would mistake Solomon Huckleberry for Jeremiah Doodlesticks. But even politics is a good thing at picnics, for the poor, solitary individual who has not been recognized before for a year, suddenly realizes that he is of vast importance in the estimation of a considerable proportion of his county's inhabitants.

The arrival of some people there was so late that the afternoon train, though behind time, came all too soon. But eleven coaches, filled to the windows, arrived in Bellefonte at 6.15 o'clock, an hour and a quarter after the schedule time.

The night train from the picnic grounds was also full and the famous rendevous was comparatively quiet during the night, ready to awaken again this morning to life and activity.

Hunters En Route.

We met Cyrus Goss, the Republican Recorder of Centre county, and Andy Loneberger, both of Bellefonte, on Church street, with guns in their hands, bound for Sinnemahoning on a hunting expedition. The boys both looked exceeding well and were sanguine of great success in the woods. Frank Wallace, who is building several brick houses in Bellefonte and who wants to employ two or three first-class bricklayers, at the best wages, was with them, although he was not on a hunting trip, but bound further east.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Philipsburg to Have a Hospital.

The Hospital Commission to select locations for several miners' hospitals in this State have finally decided on Philipsburg, Centre county, as one of the places where a hospital will be established. This cuts out both Williamsport and Lock Haven. Of course the Philipsburgers feel elevated.

Picked up at the Picnic.

The attendance at the scene of the Patrons great picnic, on Thursday, the closing day, was several thousand, only exceeded by that of Wednesday. The railroads succeeded in furnishing cars enough to carry all without leaving any behind, and the crowding was not too great to endure with comparative comfort.

The day was not very promising, else the attendance might have been fully equal to that of any previous day. At intervals rain fell and made the people apprehensive of a ducking.

Owing to some misunderstanding in the arrangements, only one of the prominent speakers arrived to address the people. This was Hon. Mortimer Whitehead, the national lecturer for the Grange and the editor of "The Canteen," a very remarkable and excellent paper, in the interests of the Veterans of the war. His address was excellent and he had the good sense not to introduce politics. When that old swellhead—Mr. Downey of Havre-de-Grace, Maryland—was called on he lapsed for a few minutes into deep meditation and then recollected another free-trade speech which some young college student had written for him and he declaimed this to the people. But he had very few hearers, as his address on the previous day had led people to become thoroughly disgusted with him.

The very heavy shower of rain in the afternoon effectually dampened many persons.

The picnic throughout was a grand success. We suggest to the managers that they hold it next year early in August instead of September as they then will be more likely to escape unpleasant weather.

With proper arrangements the Patrons can make this picnic a genuine rival to the great gathering at Williams Grove.

NOTES.

The attractive Francis Speer drew around him all day on Wednesday a bevy of young ladies, whom he entertained with that ease and vivacity so peculiarly his own.

John Bayard says that he is going to Centre Hall frequently in the future. The mash he made must have affected him seriously.

John Laurie announced to a certain pair of bright eyes that he lives near Lock Haven. She will look for him there.

It will be in better taste next time not to encourage so many free-trade addresses. We think they really aid the Republicans as their utter nonsense is apparent to all thoughtful people. But still, as a matter of taste, it would be well to avoid this in the future.

—A wedding was celebrated at the pastoral residence of Rev. P. McArdle, of the Roman Catholic Church, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Mollie McDermott, of this place, and Mr. Andrew Harris, of Lock Haven. They were attended by Miss Mard McDermott, sister of the bride, as her maid, and by Charles Harris, the groom's brother, as his best man. The affair was a very happy one. The bride is a bright, talented young lady, and looked very lovely on this occasion. They enjoyed an elegant supper in the company of a few friends from this place and Lock Haven, and departed on the evening train for the latter place, where they will make their future home. They have our best wishes.

—J. William Dinges, of Centre Hall, died on Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock. He was a student at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, where he had been during the past two years. He was bright and handsome, usually large and manly in appearance, being only eighteen years and ten months old. He spent his summer vacation, in Centre county and was well known and popular. His early death will be sincerely lamented.

—The hunters—Harry Bush, George Jackson, Mr. Faries and others—broke up their camp at Snow Shoe summit on Tuesday evening, after more than a week of enjoyable sport. They saw nothing larger or more dangerous than a huge wild cat, but the feline is still at large ready to afford other Nimrods a chance to chase it and bring it home as a trophy of their powers. But they had a first class time of it, and that's what they went for.

—W. H. Claugh and John B. Myers, of Lock Haven, are the attorneys who successfully defended Johnson. Their services in his behalf were gratuitous as both Johnson and his friends are poor people. In the efforts of these gentlemen they displayed legal acumen that but few old practitioners possess. We but voice the popular expression when we predict for these two young men a bright future.

—Daniel Lauver, Sr., died at his home in Woodland, Clearfield county, on the 15. instant. He was the father of Daniel Lauver, Jr., of this place, and Cal Lauver and Mrs. Wilson Parker, of Philipsburg

The Verdict.

Its Approval By the Public, Was Boodle the Motive?

Written for the Fountain.

From the time that Luther J. Shaffer received his trial and sentence, the Fountain was contented that the evidence in that trial pointed directly to one person as having committed the Culvey murders and that one person was Shaffer. That position has been sustained by the sworn affidavit of Shaffer and his confession to the sheriff, Johnson and others, made fifteen minutes before he was launched into eternity, and more lately, by twelve oath respecting jurymen and an enlightened public.

It is the intention of the conductor of the Fountain to give the truth as near as can be arrived at, in all cases where the welfare and interest of the public can be served let it hit who or where it may. It is this independent course pursued that is creating such demand for the Fountain all over the world.

The second trial of Johnson, as a participant in the Culvey murders, ended last Saturday night by the jury rendering a verdict of "Not Guilty." This verdict had been anticipated by the intelligent public and when announced, gave general satisfaction, the vast audience present giving a spontaneous shout of approval which was only surpassed by the exertions of the sheriff at the command of the court. The news was taken to the Opera House, where a play was in progress, and announced from the stage and the verdict lustily cheered by the audience, and then the play went on again. Throughout the city there was general rejoicing and congratulations over the just result.

This trial was remarkable in several respects. At Johnson's first trial there was no reliable evidence connecting the defendant with the crime alleged, yet the jury had no hesitation in bringing in a verdict "Guilty" with unbecoming haste, it seemingly having paid more attention to Hipple's address than to the evidence which it had sworn to observe. It was also a remarkable trial as the prosecution and its heelers, if we may be permitted to use the latter term, ransacked the whole county for evidence when they knew, or should of known' that the prisoner was innocent. That any prosecution should rely for a conviction upon such perjured evidence as Kots' was proven to be, and the hallucinations of Harvey Bierly as well as the rebutting evidence of others who are known to be the scum of society, is still more remarkable and would imply that the prosecution was more gullible than the average of mankind.

This trial in connection with those preceeding it, was also remarkable for the expense incurred which the county cheerfully assumed, the total cost of all amounting to $8,300 with attorney's fees and other expenses yet to be added to that sum. From an impartial and disinterested view of the whole matter, and with the official record in the commissioner's office staring us in the face, it looks as if there were significant conjunctions in the case, if not conspiracy, to not only take the life of an innocent person but also to make a raid on the tax payers through the county treasury.

Such reckless expense as attended the Culvey murder trials on each occasion is disgraceful.

The means used and expenses incurred in these trials, we have been informed, were made at the suggestion and by the advice of the leading counsel for the prosecution. If this is a fact, which we have no way of knowing only by common rumor, that person should be held to a strict accountability for the extravagant waste of the people's money in an abortive attempt to prove an innocent man guilty of a heinous crime.

The verdict of the last jury also demonstrates the fact that the day for mountebank performances before intelligent juries is gone by, that egotistical vanity and prancing monkey performances before the public is held in serious contempt by all honest intelligent persons.

There is one thing the verdict did which we feel sorry for. It relegates our esteemed friend, Mr. Hipple, to the shades of mediocrity. In our fond imagination we had pictured him as a second Don Quixote, but now circumstances force us to admit, what his enemies assert as a fact, that he is a dead duck in the political mill pond, and this is our benediction, Requiescat in pace, which taanslated means, "Let her go, Gallagher."

A Worthy Senatorial Candidate.

We congratulate the Republicans of the Mifflin, Juniata and Perry Senatorial district on the worthy candidate they have secured by nomination for the Senate.

Joseph M. Woods, a young lawyer of Lewistown is worthy, clean cut, pure and honorable, and if there is a Republican in the district who declines to vote for this candidate the fault will not be with the candidate, but with the want of principle that controls the voter himself.

—The night patrol say that some of the complaints which have been made recently indicating neglect of duty are very unjust. They believe the articles taken from James Potter's refrigerator and also those taken from Miss Alpha Corman's porch were taken before 11 o'clock, the hour when they go on duty. If so, they are not in any way to be held responsible for not preventing these offenses.

A Grand Opportunity.

At length Mr. J. S. Foster, of State College, is here with his excellent book, Gen. Lew Wallace's work on Harrison and Morton, the Republican candidates. Of all the books on either side this one is infinitely superior. Gen. Lew Wallace is such a delightful writer as to render anything from his pen of great interest, and when he writes of a character so heroic and manly as that of Benjamin Harrison, who was his intimate friend, the result is a graphic description which will take rank in standard literature for all time.

No Republican can be without this book and even Democrats should read of the grand man who is to be the next President of these United States. The certainty of his election by the most overwhelming popular majority ever cast in any country for any candidate will render this the greatest work of the day.

Mr. Foster, who has the book for sale, is one of the best Republicans and finest gentlemen in the county. He will call on you and give you opportunity to procure this great work.

Glass Men out of Town.

Under the title "Camden Chowder" the Philadelphia Transcript of Friday, contained the following spicy items about two of the prominent glass men connected with Bellefonte's big factory:

It is said on the street corners, "That the well-kept, good-natured, expansion bellied specimen of the human kind, who was taken by the Waterford people for a dutch burgomaster last Wednesday morning, was Tom Beach, who had jumped off the train to see a friend."

"That it was not a mysterious specimen of fish that disported itself in the briny waters of the Atlantic and attracted general attention last Wednesday, but Isaiah Clark taking his periodical constitutional bath prior to returning to the mountainous regions of Pennsylvania, where bathing water sells at ten cents a quart."

TRY IT YOURSELF.

"It is of no use to argue the question, Philip, I am neither stubborn nor opinionated, I have simply had a lesson that will last a lifetime."

"Look here, Jack! you are like some old bachelor who has been jilted by some woman, and goes about declaring all women false."

"Not at all! my brother Charley died of Bright's disease, brought on by using one of these so called 'blood purifiers'—the kind you see attractively advertised in every nook and corner. It contains iodide of potassium, a drug useful in extreme cases when cautiously given under a doctor's supervision, death-dealing to all who take it in quantity. If your brother had died under such circumstances, you would hate patent medicines as I do."

"I do dislike the name of that mis-called 'blood purifier', for I have heard a first class physician say it is the cause of half the cases of Bright's disease in the country, and it is strange the proprietors have not been prosecuted for selling it. But I was recommending Vinegar Bitters and that does not contain any mineral, narcotic or other hurtful drug."

"Oh, nobody supposes that old woman's remedy will hurt anybody; the question is will it cure anything? I'd as soon think of taking some of my grandmother's herb tea."

"You would be better off, Jack, if you had some of that tea to tone up your system now, instead of taking a glass of brandy to make you sleep one night, and perhaps a bottle of beer next."

"Is this a temperance lecture, Phil?"

"No, it is a Vinegar Bitters lecture, I've taken the medicine more or less for fifteen years, and look the world over, you will not find a helthier man than I am."

"What is all this nonsense about old style and new style Vinegar Bitters; are they different?"

"Yes, the old style looks like coffee with milk in, the new style like coffee without milk. The man who made the old style for twenty years—a practical chemist—made a milder, pleasanter preperation, adding to it here, and taking from it there, until he produced, my wife says, the finest medicine ever made. It cured her of coastipation, and it cures the children of hives and all the little ailments they ever have. If my wife thinks they have worms, she doses them with old style. We always have both kinds in the house, and together, they keep the doctor away."

'And you insist that the pudding—'

"Is the eating—precisely. Jack, get a bottle of the old style Vinegar Bitters—men, I think, prfer old style usually—try it, and you will then be like an old bachelor who, after railing against women for years, falls in love with a good woman at last. You will say there are good and bad patent medicines, but Vinegar Bitters is the best of the lot."

"All right, Phil, to please you, I'll try it and report results." 20-37-18m

NEW RECEIPT BOOK.

His Last & Crowning Life Work.

Dr Chase's Third, Last and Complete Receipt Book and Household Physician, or the Book for the Million, contains nearly 900 pages and sells for $2.25 in cloth binding and $2.50 in imported oil cloth, marble edge, and is justly by him called

'THE CROWNING WORK OF MY LIFE.'

It is the result of over half a century's observation, study and experience. Yet this embodies no compilation of his former books, IT IS WHOLLY A NEW BOOK. If 30 years ago he could produce a book that has had a sale of over fifteen hundred thousand copies, and has made his name familiar in nearly every English-speaking home in the United States, Canada, and South America, what KIND of a book could or would he produce as his Crowning Life Work, WITH MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS OF ADDITIONAL PRACTICE AND EXPERIENCE? The book itself answers the question, and is the most valuable production in the history of book publishing.

The Book is published in both English and German.

FLOATING IN THE BREEZE.

The Pole Raising at Curtin's Work's Proves to be an Interesting and Patriotic Event.

The Protectionists of Boggs and Howard townships held a rousing Harrison and Morton meeting at Curtins Works on Saturday afternoon, September 22.

The ceremonies consisted of the raising of a pole 113 feet high from the ground up, with the star-spangled banner floating from its top. The length of the pole represents the 113 years of our free government. Captain Austin Curtin called the meeting to order and nominated a full list of officers.

J. L. Bathurst was elected President of the meeting, assisted by the following vices presidents, all of whom voted for General William Henry Harrison in 1840:

Samuel Pletcher, Michael Pletcher, Samuel Wheeler, Jacob C. Smith, Wm. White, Robert Cooke, Jacob Holter, John Schenck, James H. Bathurst, George Funk, Calvin Sanders, J. L. Montgomery and Harrison Long, of Howard township. Benjamin Aikey, Jacob Shultz and Thomas Eckert, of Spring township; E.C.Humes JohnCurtin of Bellefonte; and Isaac Ginger, Hugh Sharp, John Swyers, H. S. Ryman and Zachariah D. Miles, of Milesburg; G. W. Carter, William Leighly, George Watson, R.D. Evens, James George, John Walter, Chandler Brooks, James Zimmerman J.Brian and Andrew Heaton of Boggs township. The secretaries were J. A. Feidler, of Bellefonte, and W. H. Ginger, Harry Cox, William H. Shultz and Simeon Bathurst, of Boggstownship.

J. L. Bathurst, the President, returned thanks for the honor conferred and introduced Hon. James Milliken of Bellefonte, who delivered one of those strong and convincing addresses for which he is so well known. In it he again conclusively showed that protection does most abundantly protect and that free trade is synonymous with ruin. He analyzed the process of making steel rails for the purpose of controverting certain assertions made by distinguished Democrats of this vicinity who have either wilfully or from ignorance misrepresented the value of the labor in a ton of this commodity. He showed that all except about $8.40 in each ton is actual labor.

After the address was ended Captain Henry Holter superintended the raising of the pole. When it had assumed an upright position the American flag was run up. Some three hundred or more small flags had been attached to the top of the pole, by an ingenious device a a cord was pulled and the minute flags came fluttering down among the people. Great shouts for protection went up as the people caught the flags which they will keep as mementoes of the auspicious occasion when they celebrated that protection which enables them to have happy homes and own good farms.

The crowd once again assembled around the speakers stand and were addressed by Governor Beaver in the inspiring and hopeful language which that gentleman always employs. D. S. Keller was called on and responded, the vast crowd listening to every word.

OTHER FACTS NOTED.

The speakers stand was beautifully decorated with bunting and lovely flowers, which had been arranged by the nimble fingers of the fair ladies of Howard.

The Curtin band discoursed music of a high order of merit for the occasion. The band contains superior talent and with practice will equal the best.

The fair sex of Curtin and the surrounding country turned out almost unanimously and graced the event with their smiles of approval. They don't want any British free trade in their homes.

The private houses and buildings were all elaborately decorated with the stars and stripes. There are but three or four men in all this vicinity who are at all favorable to Cleveland and they are coming to realize that his tariff message and his letter of acceptance are out-and-out free trade, while his retaliation message was designed to be only a blind to disguise his efforts to help England.

There were thirty-one little girls attired in white and blue and waving flags. When the large delegation arrived from Bellefonte with Governor Beaver leading the procession, the crowd cheered and the little girls waved their flags more wildly than ever.

The delegation from Howard also aroused wild applause from all present and well they might as they are entitled to the honors of the occasion. They were headed by a four-horse wagon in which were ten veterans who had voted for "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" in 1840.

The Milesburg band had the honor of leading the large delegation from that place, and they were well introduced by such delightful music.

The Tippecanoe veteran vice presidents presented quite a venerable appearance when seated on the platform and received much applause.

—The Fleming base ball nine of Bellefonte went to the State College on Saturday. Their purpose was to have a game with the first nine of that institution. As a result they had an enjoyable game. The College team was strengthened by the addition of Mr. John Mitchell, a professional pitcher, who is in many respects a regular Mascot, the nine for which he pitches always winning. But our boys did well, Woodcock pitched splendidly and but for poor fielding would have won. Only three hits were made off of Woodcock while five or six were made off Mitchell. The score was 10 to 5 in favor of the College.

Base Ball at the College.

On Saturday the Fleming B. B. Club, of this place accompanied by some of their admirers, started to State College to play the first nine of that institution. After arriving there and the Flemings having a little preliminary practice the game began with "Jersey" Holter of the College as umpire. The College team were first at bat. In the first inning both sides drew blanks, although Mitchel the third to bat, made a two base hit and Mock reached first on errors, both were left on Brew striking out. In the second "Calamity" Musser flew out to Crider, Frank Musser got his base on balls Aull reached the initial bag on errors, Crawford struck out. Musser and Aull, scored, McLean made a scratch hit, stole second, but was left, as Ellenberger went out, at first. Flemings, Burns struck out Woodcock got his base on errors, Laurie fouled out to McLean, "Deacon" stole second but died there as Cunningham could not find the ball and struck out. In the third Mitchell and Mock scored on two bases on balls, steals and errors, McGinley, Lembkey and Crider went out in order. Crawford got his base on balls in the fourth, stole second, McLean was caught at second, Ellenberger fouled out to McGinley and the "Professional" went out at first. McKnight struck out, the "Kid" and Burns went out on flies to Aull and Charlie Musser respectively. Score P. S. C. 5, Fleming 0,

In the fifth P. S. C. got two runs on errors and steals. Woodcock's little hit was fumbled and he reached first, stole second, went to third on Laurie's out at first and scored; Cunningham went out to C. Musser, McGinley sent a nice fly to Brew which the "Parrot" gracefully took care of. Score, P. S. C. 7, Fleming 1.

In the sixth "Bottle" Ellenberger and Mitchell went out in order to McKnight. Lembkey came up smiling and getting one where he wanted it made a neat single, Crider did the same advancing the "Calliope" a base, McKnight got to first on errors Lembkey second, Bayard lined one out, Crider scoring, Burns went out at first, McKnight and Bayard crossed the plate. Woodcock made a hit, stole second and third, but was left, Laurie flying out to Aull and Cunningham striking out. Score P. S. C. 7, Fleming 5.

In the seventh Mock and F. Musser made the circuit on a hit by Aull and on errors. McGinley Lembkey and "Shorty" went out to "Calamity" Musser.

Eighth inning—McLean struck out, Ellenberger went out at first, Mitchell got as far as third, but stayed there, Mock going out at first. McKnight found the ball ahead of him in getting to first, Bayard made a hit and a steal, Burns struck out.

Woodcock flew out to Crawford, leaving Bayard on third. In the ninth with one man out. C Musser reached first, scored on errors. Laurie reached first sometime after the ball did and was declared out. Cunningham made a hit to short centre field but went out at second. McGinley struck out, ending the agony.

Some of the features of the game were the pitching of Mitchell and Crider, the work of Aull and the batting of Bayard. Old Reliable Deacon Woodcock surprised all his friends by making two errors, one of them being a muff of a difficult fly. McGinley failed to support Crider in good shape. Mitchell who pitched against the Flemings has played professionally on the Sunbury team, last season and this year on the Portland and Salem teams in the New England League and pitched a exhibition game for the St. Louis Browns against the Athletics. He leaves for Philadelphia on Friday where Harry Wright will give him a trial on the Phillies.

SUCCESSFUL AMATEURS.

Two Very Pretty Comedies Enacted to a Fashionable Audience.

The second highly successful entertainment was given in Bush Arcade Hall on Monday evening. This, like the first, was given under the most favorable auspices and was successful, not only financially but also artistically. A stage had been erected with all the necessary accessories, handsome furniture being loaned for the occasion by W. Rowe & Bro., and an excellent collection of bric-a-brac adding sumptuousness to the effect.

Messrs. Joe Rhoads, James Hamill and Thomas Orbison served as ushers and soon every seat was filled, the audience being very select and brilliant. A most mirthful comiedatta introduced the performance. It was entitled "A Bad Case." Miss Dalrymple, an elderly lady whose chief concern was to gain preeminence in the sewing circle had cause to summon Dr. Arthur Chisolm to attend to her rheumatic arm. She had also with her a niece, Sylvia, who she meant should marry a rather wild young nephew from whom she anticipated a visit. The other person was Lucy, a maid. The Doctor called while Miss Dalrymple was away. By mistake he sent up a card bearing the nephew's name. When Sylvia received him very gushingly, much to the Doctor's surprise, his strange actions led her to believe him slightly crazy and she contrived to confine him in the library. Miss Dalrymple returned with a recital of the experience she had met with at the sewing circle. All the ladies were afraid to release the man in the library, but at last Sylvia did so, and explanations followed. Miss Emily Valentine as Miss Dalrymple was very fine. Mr. John Blanchard was a model Dr. Arthur Chisolm. Lucy was Miss Mary Valentine and all agreed that Miss Patterson, of Baltimore, who is visiting Miss Valentine, made a lovely Sylvia.

Then followed a longer comedy, "Who's to Win Him?" A handsome young officer, named Cyril Dashwood, came to Squire Brushleigh in a country town, to marry one of the Squire's charming daughters. As he was an eligible suitor the Squire gave him a royal welcome. The Squire's daughters were Sylvia, a young lady who was fond of sport. Henrietta, whose chief employment was to dance. Musidora, who was too utterly utter romantic and gushing, and Rose, "only a little girl," who was sensible enough to have no thought of marriage. In the family was Arabella, a young lady friend, who had been engaged, but had dismissed her suitor, consequently she too was free to fall in love with Cyril Dashwood. The only other beau in the village was Mr. Prattleton Primrose, a middle aged bachelor, who never could tell which one of the inmates of the Squire's household he loved best, though he thought he had only to choose. The arrival of Dashwood caused each female heart to flutter. Each of the three grown-up sisters decided to win him and they commissioned Arabella, their mutual friend, to interview Dashwood and get some points from him. But Arabella, too, had designs upon him, and so she laid a plan to foil each of the others. She wrote to Sylvia that Dashwood was a prize fighter and sporting man and she should converse with him on these subjects. She informed Henrietta that he adored nothing so much as lively dancing, so when in his presence poor Henrietta did nothing else than dance. Then she privately informed the gushing Musidora that the handsome young gentleman was poetic and gushing so this romantic maiden brought to him all her love stories and elicited his sympathy for the fair heroines. Thus matters progressed. Dashwood treated each peculiarity with becoming consideration, but by the time each of the three older sisters and also their mutual friend, Arabella, had concluded that she had captivated and won Mr. Dashwood, he, poor gentleman, was concluding that he was in a mad house and was going back to town. Meanwhile, the undecided bachelor, Mr. Primrose, had avowed his love to each one in turn and had been spurned. The four young ladies met, discovered the deception Miss Arabella had played on them and in their perplexity, commissioned their little sister Rose to interview Dashwood to discover which maiden he really did prefer. As the reader may premise, the interview closed with the discovery that Dashwood was in love with Miss Rose and she admitted to him that she was willing to entertain more than a sisterly affection for him. To cap the climax, after this engagement was made Mr Prattleton Primrose, who had reconsidered the subject, came with a big bouquet and kneeling on his pocket handkerchief before Rose, exclaimed something like this:

Adorable maiden, all so fair,
Please accept these flowers rare.

When he arose again it was with the determination to go and marry the cook.

At intervals in the play "Squire Brushleigh" appeared to look after his daughters. This part was well taken by W. Fred Reynolds. Mr. Walter Graham was Mr. "Cyril Dashwood" and was quite handsome in his stage attire. John Blanchard, Esq., as "Prattleton Primrose," certainly took the palm among the gentlemen. His comical part was a piece of consummate acting. "Rose," the little girl, taken by Miss Laurette Eustis Potts, was charming and naivete. "Sylvia," taken by Miss Maud Potts, was a very brilliant piece of acting. She was entirely self-possessed and delightful on the stage and how the London gentleman resisted her charms is incomprehensible. "Henrietta" was well taken by Miss Jane H. Valentine. Miss Emily U. Valentine, who had been such a perfect "Miss Dalrymple" in the first piece, was equally excellent as the romantic Musidora. Perfect naturalness characterized her part as it did that of Miss Potts. Miss Valentine originated two very taking declarations. First, when as Miss Dalrymple she told the supposed agent that she did not want to buy the life of Grover Cleveland, and when as Musidora she told Prattleton Primrose that she would not marry a man of his "political persuasion." "Arabella" was skillfully acted by Miss Julia Valentine. The pieces were well selected and the entertainment was delightful.

For the Sufferers in Florida.

The suffering in Florida, because of the yellow fever there, is extreme, and is daily becoming worse. The North is responding generously to the cry for aid. Quite a number of the people of this place are specially interested, having visited Florida frequently and thus realizing the situation more vividly. Miss Annie Valentine, has collected quite a sum of money and will be the medium for transmission to the proper places in Florida of whatever sums are donated by Bellefonte people. If any persons who do not find it convenient to send the contributions to her, will leave them at the REPUBLICAN office they will be faithfully credited and the money will be promptly placed in Miss Valentine's care for this purpose. We hope that Bellefonte's gift to the Land of Flowers will be generous.

The Meeting next Saturday Evening.

Protectionists from all parts of the county are invited to the meeting in this place next Saturday evening. Every band in the county will be present and there will be merry music in the air. Hon. Chas. W. Stone, Secretary of the Commonwealth, will be present to discuss the issues of the day. He is a brilliant and popular speaker and every thoughtful citizen should hear him.

After the meeting in the evening there will be a grand display of fireworks. It promises to be a great event in the interest of American indnstry, American patriotism and the candidates of the Republican party, National, State and county. After the meeting special trains will run in every direction to take the people to their homes.

An Infant's Death.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen, who live in the southern part of the borough, are mourning the death of their infant child, Ella J., the baby daughter. This sweet blossom only seven months old, died on Monday morning. Like a lovely flower which blossoms but for a day and closes its petals at night to be seen no more, so the blight of death came early to this fair blossom, but the petals will unfold and develop in greater and more perfect beauty in the Celestial morning, the Paradise of God.

Weep not, parents, for thy daughter,
Though away from your kind care;
In the home above she'll blossom
Amid flowers bright and fair.
Where she is so kindly cared for
By a Heavenly Father's grace;
Beckoning you there to join her
When you've run this earthly race.

—The State Convention of the Constitutional Amendment Association will meet in the Presbyterian church, Johnstown, on Thursday morning next at 10 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to further the interests of Constitutional Prohibition by devising plans to insure the passage for the second time by the Legislature of the proposed amendment. It is expected that every county in the State will be represented, and many prominent workers in the cause will be there. Among them will be Francis Murphy and his son Edward and Hon. John Cessna. The Convention will be in session two days. The day sessions will be held in the Presbyterian church and the evening sessions in the Opera House. Francis Murphy will speak Friday evening, September 28th.

—There is a strong probability that the first base ball nine of the State College will be in Bellefonte next Saturday to engage in a game with Bellefonte's famous Fleming team. We hope the State College team will come. They are really excellent players, but we do not consider them equal to the Flemings. If they come their expenses must be paid and the public are requested to respond cheerfully and willingly when the hat is passed around for collections.

—St. John's Protestant Episcopal parish will be favored with an Episcopal visitation on the 28th of October, at which time Rt. Rev. Nelson Sommerville Rulison, Asst. Bishop of the Diocese of Central Pennsylvania, will be here to administer the rite of confirmation to such candidates as the rector shall present to him for that purpose.

—Miss Emma Snyder, has gone to Philadelphia and New York for millinery. Grand Openings to display these goods, Oct., 11th and 12th. We ask all to call and examine goods.

The Great Virginia Industrial Exposition—Reduced Rates via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Virginia Agricultural, Mechanical, and Tobacco Exposition will be held at Richmond, beginning October 3rd and closing November 21st, 1888. This exposition will be the best exhibit of the industrial and agricultural resources of the upper South ever held. Beside an extensive display of Agricultural products and fine stock, a special section will be devoted to tobacco, illustrating all its phases from the plant to the pipe. The special features embrace a bench show, running and trotting races, and numerous other forms of interesting entertainment. The capital of the Old Dominion is an exceptionally interesting place, and with the extraordinary attractions offered by the exposition, and the delightful climate of this season, the pleasure of a visit is greatly enhanced.

For the benefit of the hosts of people who will desire to visit the city under these favorable circumstances, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Richmond every Monday and Thursday during the continuance of the exposition, good to return until November 26th enclusive, from all principal stations on its system at single fare for the round trip.

A Young Man Dies of Consumption.

YEAGER.—At his home in Moshannon, Centre County, Pa., on September 3, of consumption, Wm. T. P. Yeager, aged 29 years and 27 days.

The subject of this notice was a son of D. H. Yeager and was born in Snow Shoe on the 6th day of August, 1859. Being left motherless when only one month old, he was taken by his eldest sister, Mrs. C. A. Watson, to her home and under her care and protection he grew to manhood. Mr. and Mrs. Watson not having any children of their own, were very much attached to him, and spared neither pains nor expense to gratify his every wish. When he became of age he joined a corps of engineers and followed that pursuit until 1885. In 1886 he was engaged in weighing coal in Philipsburg, where he became ill with that dreadful disease consumption. He was brought to his home where he remained until his sufferings ended on the date above mentioned. Although not able to work yet full of hope, he was married on the 25th of November to Miss Ida Colgrove, of Wallaceton, Pa., only a short time thereafter he was confined to his bed, being at his old home where he desired to spend the last days upon earth. It was well known that no earthly power could save him, yet everything that could be done for his bodliy comfort was done. Mr. and Mrs. Watson were ever to be found at his bedside administering to his every want. Neighbors from far and near were ready to lend a helping hand. Although the young man suffered for two long years, yet he bore his affliction patiently. His funeral took place on Wednesday, the 5th, from the Presbyterian church, and he was followed to his last resting place by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Deceased leaves a wife and one child to mourn his early demise. The friends desire to return thanks to all who so kindly lent their aid and comfort during their affliction. FRIEND.

—The cards are out for the marriage of Charles G. Valentine, now of Atlantic City, and Miss Mollie Larimer, oldest daughter of the late W. H. Larimer, of this county, and niece of Hon. A. V. Larimer of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Miss Larimer now resides in Omaha, across the river from the Bluffs, and the wedding will take place in that city on the 4th of October, in All Saints church. Mr. Valentine is a son of Mr. Abram Valentine late of Bellefonte, but now living in Atlantic City. Both of the contracting parties have numerous friends in this place who have received cards to the ceremony and who will extend to them their most hearty congratulations and well wishes.

Wednesday we saw Mr. Cal. Brachbill, who has been spending several months in Fremont, Nebraska. Mr. Brachbill says that Fremont is a decidedly lively place and reports that people who went there from the East are getting along very prosperously. He says, however, that Rev. John Hewitt's general health does not seem to be as good as it was when he was in Bellefonte, though as far as his field of work is concerned it is large and promises good results. Mr. Brachbill has concluded not to locate in Fremont, but will establish himself in business in the western part of this state.

—The Republicans of Clearfield county held their convention on Tuesday and nominated Rev. H N Miller, of Osceola, and A L Cole, of DuBois, for assembly; James H Kelley, of Clearfield, for district attorney. Lewis Zeigler, A E Patton and R D Swoope, were named as congressional conferrees, without instructions.

MARRIED.

WILLIAMS—MILLER.—On the 6th of September, at the home of the bride, in Spring Mills, by Rev. M. L. Deitzler, John Williams, of Lemont, and Miss Ida Miller.

FIEDLER—MARK.—On the 16th of September, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. J. Shambach, Mr. William B. Fiedler and Miss Lizzie M. Mark, both of Penn Hall.

DIED.

THOMAS—On, Wednesday September 19th, in this place, James Jr., son of James and Annie Thomas, aged 4 years and 6 months. Interment at 2 o'clock p. m., on Thursday, in the Union cemetery.
